U. S. STEEL COMBINE WINS SUIT

Railroads Again Operating Under Own Management

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—Railroads of the country operating for the first time in 26 months under their own management, were formally notified today by the interstate commerce commission of the new powers delegated to that body and of the rights and privileges accorded the carriers by the new railroad law.

The commission's announcement explained that provisions of the law against rate reductions prior to September 1, without the commission's approval were mandatory, but that changes in rate regulations, classifications and practices, in which a decision had been entered by the commission, would be effective on the date designated. All changes in rates and classifications effective prior to today will stand, the statement said.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—The United States railroad administration, the governmental agency which for more than two years has controlled the operation of the nation's railroad systems, today passed out of existence.

With its passing at midnight, the 250 lines that had been merged into what was practically one gigantic system again went under control of private interests, free to operate in co-operation as of old.

The transfer from government to private control was without incident and there was nothing to indicate to the traveling public that there had been a change.

Of the staff of directors and executives who controlled the roads during government operation, Director General Hines alone remains. He will have no authority in directing the operation of the systems and remains simply to clear up matters left pending when the government relinquished control. These include thousands of claims, concessions and grievances yet to be settled and among which are 53 compensation contracts with various roads which still are the subject of negotiations.

Terms of Railroad Bill

Under the so-called railroad re-organization bill, which governed the return of the transportation systems to private ownership but little jurisdiction is returned by the government. Under its terms the interstate commerce commission is given greater power to control rates and compulsory arbitration of labor disputes is required. The government also retains a certain amount of control over their bond issues but at the same time insures a fixed percentage of profit and makes it possible for the corporations to secure loans from a federal fund set aside for that purpose.

Specifically, the bill authorizes the president to settle all questions, including compensation and appropriates $360,000,000 for this purpose.

Provides guarantee of "standard return" to carriers for a period of six months after the termination of federal control.

Creates a "receiving fund" of $300,

EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT INVASION OF STATE RIGHTS, RHODE ISLAND BRIEF CHARGES

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—The eighteenth amendment "is a direct invasion of jurisdiction and powers of the state and the rights of its people," the state of Rhode Island declares in its brief filed in the United States supreme court today in reply to the government's motion for the dismissal of its action of obtaining injunctive relief from the amendment.

The brief which was filed by Attorney General Herbert A. Rice, of Rhode Island, asserts that the government's view that the amendment is "unassailable," can only "lead to anarchy and oppression."

It contends that it is the duty of the court to keep congress in its amendments to the constitution "within the scope and jurisdiction of federal authority" and "maintain that line of division between federal and state powers", which has for so many years insured the harmonious operation of Washington's dual system of government ordained and established as perpetual."

"The theory of the government is so subversive of fundamental principles that its acceptance would bring about a constitutional revolution," continues the brief. "It would convert the sovereignty of the people into a sovereignty of officials. It would endanger civil liberty and those innumerable rights that have been inherited from the common law since the time of magna charta. Under its application the boundary established by the constitution by federal and state authority could be shifted at will as officials might be influenced by political cowardice or expediency. In fact, all power might be absorbed by the federal government and the states become dependencies, states only in name, for the mere purpose of having equal representation in the senate."

The brief declares that Article V of the constitution relating to amendments only provides for the correction of errors committed in framing the

CANDIDATES ENDORSING SUFFRAGE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1—Five Democrats and five Republicans who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates, in statements to the national woman's party, made public today, join in urging ratification of the suffrage amendment in time for women to vote for president next November. They include Major General Leonard Wood, Governor Lowden, of Illinois; Senators Harding, of Ohio; Poindexter, of Washington, and Johnson, of California, Republicans, and Senator Owen, of Oklahoma; Attorney General Palmer, William G. McAdoo, James W. Gerard and W. J. Bryan.

Thirty-three of the necessary 36 states have ratified the amendment by which it is estimated approximately 25,000,000 women would become eligible to vote.

GOVERNMENT LOSES FIGHT IN SUPREME COURT TO DISSOLVE SO CALLED "STEEL TRUST"

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—The supreme court today upheld formation of the United States Steel Corporation and subsidiary combinations in the iron and steel industry. Refusing to dissolve the so-called "steel trust," the court dismissed the federal government's Sherman law suit for dissolution.

Affirming the New Jersey federal court's dismissal of the government prosecution, the supreme court declined to enjoin the restraint of trade charged and also denied an order to break up the super-combination, said to be the world's greatest industrial organization, with assets exceeding two billion dollars.

In dismissing the federal suit, however, the court ordered such dismissal "without prejudice" permitting the government to sue again if the corporation actually resorts to illegal, wrongful or repressive practices.

In deciding the suit the court announced its decree through Justice McKenna. Only seven of the nine justices participated, Justices Brandeis and McReynolds taking no part.

In rendering the decision Justice McKenna said that since 1911 no act in violation of law can be charged against the steel corporation and that it was the opinion of the court that the practices complained of by the government had been abandoned.

Justices Pitney, Clark and Day assented.

Justice McKenna said that to grant the government's request for dissolution of the corporation and restore conditions in the industry as they were 20 years ago would be impracticable. It would disrupt business, the decision said, and would not be in the public interest.

Justice McKenna said the tobacco and Standard Oil Company cases offered no analogy as they had been guilty of certain objectionable practices which the steel corporation had not been.

In a dissenting opinion, Justice Day said the corporation violated the law in its formation and practices and that there ought to be a decree "as far as possible" for its dissolution because of its "open, notorious and continual violation of the law."

Justice Day said the majority opinion virtually annulled the Sherman act.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—In interpreting the Sherman anti-trust act today the supreme court reversed federal court decrees which held that the statute did not prohibit re-sale price fixing unless there was intention of creating monopoly.

The opinion was rendered in the government's appeal from dismissal in Ohio of federal indictments charging A. Schrader's Sons, Inc., manufacturers of accessories for pneumatic tires, with participation in a combination in restraint of trade through calls by which re-sale prices to retailers and consumers were fixed. In quashing the indictments the lower court construed the act to mean that in the absence of allegations charging an intent and purpose to monopolize trade, the statute did not make the acts alleged a crime.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—The New York state income tax law was held unconstitutional today by the supreme court insofar as it denies exemptions to citizens of other states which are granted to its own citizens.

Federal court decrees declaring the law discriminatory and permanently enjoining state officials from enforcing it against non-residents were sustained. In declaring the act invalid, the lower court held that it conflicted with Article 4 and the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution. The Oklahoma income tax law of 1915 was held to be constitutional.

Justice Pitney, who rendered the opinion in the New York case, held that the act resulted in an unwarranted discrimination against residents of Connecticut and New Jersey, who work in New York City.

BAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

FRENCH STRIKE SITUATION IMPROVED

PARIS, March 1.—Railroad men mobilized by the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean systems were reporting in increasing numbers last night, and what little change there is in the strike situation this morning, seems to be for the better. So far the general strike called on Saturday morning may be said to be a failure, as numbers of railroad men, even union adherents, are refusing to quit, particularly in the provinces.

Inconvenience is being suffered by the public and freight service is being disorganized, however, by the existing strike conditions. Five railroad strike leaders were arrested today charged with interference with the liberty to work and provoking disobedience.

Premier Millerand said today: "The situation is satisfactory. Reports from the companies to the prefects bring confirmation of the amelioration of conditions on all the systems.

MANY TRAINS CANCELLED

BOSTON, March 1—The return of New England railroads to private ownership today was accompanied by curtailment of passenger train service on several lines as a means of expediting needed fuel and food deliveries, which were held up by the recent storms and freezeups. Fifty one trains were cancelled on the New York, New Haven and Hartford. Other roads also reduced service. The New Haven started a drive to move 4,000 freight cars stalled in yards and on sidings in order to remove the danger of a fuel shortage.

Forecast An Early And Unfavorable Vote On Treaty Ratification

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—An early and unfavorable vote on ratification of the peace treaty was forecast in the senate today when Republican leaders, replying to the demands of the treaty's irreconcilable Republican opponents, re-affirmed their decision not to accept any change of substance or of language in the Republican reservation to Article 10.

Both sides concede that enough Democratic senators to defeat ratification are determined to stand with President Wilson and vote against the treaty unless the Article 10 qualification is modified. The Republican decision today was followed by evidences that all the elements in the senate fight would co-operate to end debate and let the treaty issue go undecided into the campaign.

Some of the leaders predicted a final vote by Thursday, but others thought it would not come before the first of next week.

Under the agreement between the Republican leaders and the Irreconcilables, the latter will not carry out the proposed program of prolonged debate. They will support the Republican reservation program as they did at the last session, but will vote, as they did then, against ratification.

Today's decision grew out of a conference between the Republican leader, Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, a spokesman for the irreconcilables. Previously Senator Borah had conferred with Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, the Democratic leader, and it is understood the information laid before Senator Lodge convinced him that no ratification would be possible either with or without modification of the Article 10 reservation.

If it were modified, it was intimated, the irreconcilables might feel disposed to prevent a ratification vote. If it were not modified, it was said, a combination of irreconcilables and administration senators would vote down ratification.

In the unyielding stand they have taken on Article 10 the administration forces are understood to have been backed up by a re-affirmation of President Wilson's decision not to accept the Republican reservation. Although it was said no formal communication came from the White House, it was understood administration senators had taken steps to satisfy themselves that Mr. Wilson had not changed his mind and that he intended to pocket the treaty if it were ratified with the Article 10 reservation unchanged.

Italian Premier Ready To Accept Compromise Plan

ROME, March 1—(Havas)—Premier Nitti is disposed to accept a compromise settlement of the Adriatic question, according to the Messaggero. By this arrangement, the newspaper says, Italy would not claim territorial continuity between Istria and Fiume on condition that the city be placed under Italian sovereignty. The League of Nations, it is said, would be in charge of the administration of the port.

FIUME, March 1—A siege of Fiume has begun with a stringent blockade against commodities, including foodstuffs.

"Perhaps we may appear to be lenient toward those occupying Fiume," said General Variglia, of the government forces today, "but it is not so. We shall overlook an iron blockade against the forces of Gabriele d'Annunzio. I am not offering them the slightest atom, but the children must be cared for. That is why I allowed two hundred children to come out of Fiume and proceed to Milan."

City In Despair

The correspondent has gleaned opinions of all sorts in Fiume. Those of the citizens with whom he has talked seemed unanimous that the situation was critical and that the city now is in the deepest of despair, financially and commercially.

Gabriele d'Annunzio has ordered another deportation of Croats and other foreigners who are "pernicious by their presence for the proper defense of the city." The Socialists also have been included in the general cleaning out of the city. Public meetings and demonstrations of any sort not having the consent of the soldiers and police have been prohibited.

Officers Deserting

"D'Annunzio's forces have been considerably diminished during the past weeks by desertions. This is especially noticeable among the officers, the number of whom has fallen off by thirty percent.

REBEL CHIEFS CAPTURED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 1. Cleito Arenas, a rebel leader, has been captured by secret military police at Puebla, according to a telegram from Governor Alfredo Cabrera, of that state. Arenas was taken into custody when he attempted to enter the city of Puebla after leaving the gulf coast region. About a year ago a brigade of soldiers under command of Arenas and protecting the inter-oceanic railway removed after Arenas received a large sum for the payment of the troops. Since that time this force has been operating with constantly decreasing success in outlying portions of Puebla and Tlaxcala.

Semi-official reports announce the capture of Marcelo Caraza, in the state of Tamaulipas. This land has in recent years attained considerable notoriety.

Newspapers here in commenting upon the capture of Arenas and Caraza point out the progress made by the present administration toward "complete pacification of the country", before the July elections and the change in the government. They recall other important captures during the last year and declare that resistance from bandits is rapidly disappearing.

The capture or surrender of more than a score of minor outlaws throughout the country also occurred during the year. This leaves only Francisco Villa, who is operating with a small force in a circumscribed district in the north, and Manuel Pelaez and Felix Diaz, who are virtually powerless in the gulf coast region.

BAN ON GERMAN SHIPS

LONDON—Resumption of pre-war shipping relations with Germany is not progressing very smoothly. At Barry, the dockers refused to load the Hedwig Fischer, a German steamer which was to take a cargo of canned meat for Bremerhaven. She was thereupon sent to Avonmouth, where the dockers were reluctant to do the work, but finally consented. None of the German crew were allowed ashore.

"CHRIST'S SECOND COMING NEAR"

"Christ's Second Coming Near," an unusual sermon delivered Sunday at the Columbia and Temple theatres by A. E. MacMillan, New York, attracted large crowds. The evening meeting was changed from the Bible Association rooms to the Temple theatre in order to accommodate those seeking admission.

Mr. MacMillan in part said:

"It is generally believed by Christian people that no one will ever know anything about the time of our Lord's second coming. This view is undoubtedly based upon the statement made by Jesus 'But of that day and hour knoweth no man, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father.' Mark 13: 32. If Jesus meant to say that no one would ever know anything about the time of the second coming, we, of course, would not attempt to even investigate this subject. However, we must not interpret the Lord's word to mean that he himself, nor the angels nor anyone else would never know the time of the second coming. He did not know when he made the above statement, but who would say he does not know the day or the hour? In the first verse of the book of Revelation we read 'This is the revelation of Jesus Christ which God gave unto him to show unto his servants which must shortly come to pass.' Jesus of course did not understand these things until after the revelation was made. In the fifth chapter of this book the revelator tells us that he saw in the right hand of him who sat upon the throne, a book written within and without sealed with seven seals. This book contained the guarded mystery of the Divine Plan of the Ages. Up to this time no one in heaven or on earth was found worthy to look upon this book, and the revelator says he wept because of this. He was then informed that the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Lord Jesus had prevailed and opened the book. This means that after Christ's death and resurrection he was entrusted with all the secrets of the divine plan, including the time features. Therefore Jesus now knows the day and the hour of his second coming."

CALL IS EXTENDED TO REV. T. H. M'AFEE

Public announcement of this action has been withheld until this time, as Rev. McAfee has not been a candidate for this pastorate and there was considerable uncertainty as to whether he would consider a change at this time.

However, it is learned that he is giving the matter the deepest consideration, and it is assured that if he concludes that this field offers greater opportunities of service for the kingdom, he will return to the local church.

Rev. McAfee was pastor of the First Baptist church for several years, and while here did a splendid work. He is one of Ohio's strongest preachers and a keen student of the Bible. He left here in September, 1915, to accept the pastorate of Trinity Baptist church of Marion, Ohio, one of the strongest and most influential churches of northern Ohio.

His many friends in this city will be pleased to learn of the possibility of his returning here and will await with interest his final decision in the matter.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., March 1—Manufacture and sale of 2.5 beer in Wisconsin was legalized in a decision handed down today by Federal Judge Geiger in the test case brought by the Manitowoc Products Company for an injunction to halt enforcement of the Volstead act. By his decision Judge Geiger upheld the Mulberger state law, thus assuming that state prohibition laws take precedence over federal regulation.

ANGLE FOR INVITATIONS

GALVESTON, Tex.—Angling for invitation to dine aboard foreign owned and manned vessels entering port here is once more the popular pastime of certain Galvestonians following a decision received by Collector of the Port Fred C. Patel from the treasury department in Washington to the effect that enough "wet" goods be left unsealed for use of officers and crews of foreign ships while inside the three mile limit. The ruling, it is taken, also applies the guests aboard ships in the harbor.

Ships under foreign charter really all carry the red wine of Spain and Italy for rationing out to officers and men. Under a previous ruling of the treasury department this stock of ships wine was placed under lock and key while the vessel remained inside the three-mile limit. Representations by foreign governments, however, caused a reversal of the decision. It was pointed out that shipping agents would be unable to get crews for vessels coming to the United States if such a course was persisted in. The wine, it was said was considered part of the food allowance.

Derivation of "Flannel."

Some of the earlier philologists claim that the word "flannel" was originally written and pronounced "flannen" and that it was essentially of Welsh origin, being derived from the Welsh "gwlanen" wool, but this derivation is considered doubtful by more modern lexicographers, who regard its derivation from the Dutch "flanel," old French "flanelle," or the Italian "flanella" as more probable.

Local Candidates Only Class To Finish 100 Percent

What Portsmouth starts will be carried through to completion. This was proven beyond the peradventure of a doubt in Cincinnati last week at the Scottish Rite meeting, when seventy-one Portsmouth citizens were embellished with the rank of 32 degree Masons.

When the various classes of candidates from Ohio arrived in Cincinnati to receive the work, there was a total of 730 candidates. However, owing to sickness among the candidates or sickness in their homes, only 617 candidates received the 32 degree. But—and here is where the statement that Portsmouth finishes what she starts comes in—every one of the 71 candidates from the Peerless City went through the work—not a break occurring because of sickness. One of the local candidates, John W. Flood, East End druggist, was quite ill as the result of an attack of ptomaine poisoning, but he stuck to the colors and went through the work despite the fact he was a real sick man. The Portsmouth class was the only one that cut 100 percent, and the candidates are quite proud of the record they made.

Sunday morning's Irontonian said: An Ironton man who came in last night from Portsmouth stated that it was currently rumored there that the Marting Bros. of this city, who recently disposed of their holdings in the Marting Iron and Steel company were associated with Portsmouth capital in a movement for the erection of a large blast furnace on the Schultz farm below Franklin Furnace. According to the report in Portsmouth the Marting interests of Ironton were to invest $600,000 with $400,000 of Portsmouth capital.

At Ironton this morning Dr. Clark Lowry, president of the Marting Iron and Steel company stated that the rumor of a new blast furnace was all news to him. "I have not even heard a rumbling of it" he told a Times man this morning.

Frank L. Marting of this city also stated that he had heard no such news and hileres that it is absolutely without foundation.

Croup and Cold Troubles Are Best Treated Externally

COLDS are simply inflammation or congestion of the mucous membrane, or lining of the respiratory organs — air passages and lungs. They should be treated just as surface inflammations, such as burns or bruises, are treated—that is, the medication should be applied directly to the inflamed parts. But medication cannot be applied directly to the air passages and lungs except in the form of vapors that can be inhaled, and until the discovery of Vick's VapoRub, there was no efficient, economical method of supplying these vapors.

VICK'S VapoRub is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist, L. Richardson, who found a way to combine the standard, time-tested remedies—Menthol, Camphor, Turpentine, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Juniper, etc.—in salve form, so that when Vicks is applied to the body, these ingredients are vaporized by the body heat. These vapors, inhaled with each breath all night long, carry the medication direct to the affected parts. At the same time, Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, aiding the vapors inhaled to relieve the congestion.

Spasmodic Croup and Children's Colds

Vicks is particularly recommended to mothers with small children. It is externally applied and, therefore, can be used often and freely with perfect safety. Let the children run out-doors, even in Winter, and get their needed fresh air and exercise, and simply apply a little Vicks over the throat and chest at the first sign of a cold, covering with a hot flannel cloth. For spasmodic croup, rub Vicks freely over the throat and chest until the difficult breathing is relieved. One application is commonly sufficient, and an application at bed time usually prevents a night attack.

Deep Chest Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Coughs

For inflammation of the respiratory organs where there is tightness or soreness, Vicks should be rubbed well over the throat and chest until the skin is red; then spread on thickly and covered with hot flannel cloths. The bed clothing should be arranged in the form of a funnel, so that the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

In severe cases, hot, wet cloths should first be applied over the throat and chest to open the pores of the skin before applying Vicks.

If the cough is annoying, small portions of Vicks, the size of a pea, can be swallowed every few hours.

Head Colds, Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever

For these troubles, Vicks can be melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled, or a little applied up the nostrils and snuffed back into the air passages. There is no "cure" for Asthma and Hay Fever—Vicks gives temporary relief in some cases.

Used as a Liniment, Salve, Poultice or Plaster

In addition to its vaporizing qualities, Vicks has also been found to be an excellent anti-inflammatory application. It makes a cooling, soothing dressing for such troubles as Bites, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Frost Bite, Headache, Itchings, Poison Oak, Soreness, Sprains, Sunburn, etc.

Says Hardware Dealers Should Buy Conservatively

CINCINNATI, OHIO, March 1—"Every community in the United States is hungering for nails. There is an acute shortage of nails, barbwire and wire fencing in this country," said Henry A. Sputhle of a large steel and wire company of Chicago before the convention of the Ohio Hardware association at the Hotel Gibson. "So you retailers must be patient if you are unable to get all the nails and wire that you require," he continued. "You will not get all you require for some time. Do not speculate in these goods and buy conservatively. The inadequate supply of nails is due to labor conditions. We must increase production. It is hard to tell where we will land if another labor cloud, such as a general railway strike, hits us. The railroads are in such a condition that they will need a lot of nails before transportation conditions can be restored to normal."

Sputhle said that it was the duty of Americans "to drive radicalism, anarchy and Bolshevism entirely out of the country." "Americanize the foreigner as soon as he lands and if our flag is not good enough for him send him back," he urged.

LEWISTON WOMAN IS NOW WELL AND HAPPY

Mrs. Alice McCluskey Says She Wishes She Had Heard Of Tanlac Twenty Years Ago—Would Have Saved Her Lots Of Suffering.

Mrs. Alice McCluskey
Well Known Lewiston, Maine Woman

"I have been trying for twenty long year to find a medicine that would overcome my troubles, but my efforts failed me completely until I commenced taking Tanlac," was the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Alice McCluskey, residing at No. 90 Park Street, Lewiston, Me., a well-known and most highly respected woman of that city.

"I just feel like I would give the world to meet everyone who suffers as I did and tell them about this medicine. If I could only have gotten Tanlac twenty years ago it would have saved me a lot of suffering and money.

"My principal trouble was indigestion, and for many years I could not eat meat or pastries for I would most always suffer afterward. I would most always have a distressed feeling after eating and nothing seemed to agree with me. Then, to add to the rest of my suffering, I contracted rheumatism in my shoulders and hips and the awful pains I suffered can never be told in words. This trouble finally got so bad I could hardly walk and my arms pained me so I could scarcely raise my hands to my head. I even had to give up my housework and was hardly able to get around at all.

"You can imagine how happy I was when, after taking only a few bottles of Tanlac, I found such a wonderful improvement in my condition! Why, it was just the medicine I needed all the time and I continued taking it until now I am perfectly well again. I can truthfully say that I am enjoying as good health now as I ever had in all my life. I have gained about 14 pounds in my weight and can again do all my housework without the least trouble. I don't get tired like I did and walk for blocks and feel just fine when I get back home. I earnestly advise everyone who suffers as I did to take Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Portsmouth by The Fisher and Stretch Pharmacy and the leading druggists in every town.

ONE MAN DEAD, ANOTHER MAY DIE AS RESULT OF "FEUD" SHOOTING

Nine pistol shots were exchanged by Charles Richendollar and Jake Yates Saturday afternoon on Buffalo Creek, Symmes township, Lawrence county, when Richendollar was shot and killed and Yates was perhaps fatally wounded. Details of the shooting were learned in Ironton late Sunday morning when Undertaker Phillips, of Waterloo, nine miles from the scene of the shooting, called Ironton to give the facts of the shooting to the Irontonian.

According to Phillips, who got his story from Yates, the men met on the Mt. Vernon and Waterloo turnpike in front of the home of "Kentucky Tom" Miller.

Yates after being wounded, walked about a quarter of a mile to the home of a nephew, Wheeler Yates, where he fell exhausted near the house. Wheeler Yates rode horseback to get to a telephone to call a doctor. Dr. Clary, of Waterloo, was called and attended Yates, who received a flesh wound in the breast, one in the hand and a third in the abdomen, this shot it is feared penetrating the liver, which will cause death. When Dr. Clary arrived at the scene, the body of Richendollar was still lying in the road, where the shooting took place. Richendollar received three wounds, two in the left wrist, and one in the right shoulder which took a course across the collar bone severing one of the large arteries in the neck.

According to Yates, Richendollar crowded him to one side of the road, and when he saw Richendollar put his hand into his pocket he reached for his gun, but Richendollar was the quickest and fired first.

Richendollar who found had a 33 calibre revolver in his hand, five empty cartridges being in the chamber, Yates used a 38 calibre and used four cartridges. The men are brothers-in-law, Yates marry Richendollar's sister. According to Yates the revolver duel was the result of a family grudge of several years standing. Judging from the wounds received, the men shot at close range.

WITHOUT ANY FORMALITIES RAILROADS RETURN TO FORMER OWNERS MONDAY

Without any fan fare of trumpets or the crashing of cymbals the properly of the N. & W., C. & O. and B. & O. reverted to the incorporated owners at 12:01 this morning and no longer will be doing business under the railroad administration.

There was no set program for the formal transfer and normal scene prevailed in the vast shops in East Portsmouth this morning. On the surface there was nothing to indicate that Uncle Sam had withdrawn as boss of the railroads. They are again privately owned after being taken over during the heighth of the war by the government.

Of course there are rumors of changes but these probably will die aborning.

"There are no changes in the air so far as we know" a prominent N. & W. official said Monday morning. "Things are moving along just as usual and will continue to do so. The officials on all the divisions will hold the same positions now that they did for the Government."

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c.

WASHINGTON RICH IN BRAINS BUT POORLY ORGANIZED, SAYS LANE IN PARTING REMARKS

WASHINGTON, March 1—Official Washington, "a combination of political caucus, drawing room and civil service bureaus," containing "statesmen who are politicians and politicians who are not statesmen," is poorly organized for its task which "fewer men of larger capacity would do better."

Such is an epitome of the views of Franklin K. Lane, retiring secretary of the Interior, expressed in a characteristic parting report to the president on the occasion of leaving public life today after more than 20 years' service—the last seven in the cabinet.

Rich In Brains

"Washington," says the retiring secretary, "is rich in brains and character. It is honest beyond any commercial standard. It wishes to do everything that will promote the public good. But it is poorly organized for the task that belongs to it. Fewer men of larger capacity would do the task better. Ability is not lacking. But it is pressed to the point of paralysis because of an infinitude of details and an unwillingness on the part of the great body of public servants to take responsibility. Everyone seems to be afraid of everyone.

"The self-protective sense is developed abnormally. The creative sense atrophies. Trust, confidence, enthusiasm—these simple virtues of all great business, are the ones most lacking in government organization.

Too Many Brakes

"We have so many checks and brakes upon our work that our progress does not keep pace with the nation's requirements.

"We could save money for the government if we had more discretion as to how we should use that given us. In the body of public servants there should be quick promotion or discharge and a sure insurance when disability comes.

"For the higher administrative officers there should be salaries twice as high as those now given, and they should be made to feel that they are the ones responsible for the work of the department; the head being merely an adviser and a constructor of policies.

Few Planners Found

"As matters are now devised there are too few in the government whose business is to plan. Every man is held to details, to the narrower view, which comes too often to be the department view or some sort of parochial view. We need for the day that is here and upon us men who have little to do but study the problems of the time and test their capacity at meeting them.

"In a word, we need more opportunity for planning, engineering, statesmanship above, and more fixed authority and responsibility below."

Describing the interior department as an abiding place for a group of unrelated governmental agencies," the retiring secretary characterizes it none the less as the "most distinctively American of all the departments," and reviews all the aims and accomplishments of his administration, some of the former unrealized.

Alaska Hampered By Tape

Construction of the Alaskan railway, opening of Alaskan coal lands by a leasing system, water power development legislation and a leasing system of oil and mineral lands on the public domain are enumerated among the latter.

Alaska, the secretary thinks, is hampered by too much "red tape" in Washington, which is a "static policy" in many of the government's bureaus. Alaska, Mr. Lane says, should be administered by a federal board in the territory, be policed by a constabulary, as was northwestern Canada; should have her coasts made safe for navigation and have Canadian musk-ox crossed with the native reindeer to furnish a new meat supply to the Pacific coast.

Americanization, the development of the capital as an educational center for the country, farms for soldiers and development of natural resources are among the projects Mr. Lane leaves behind him, and his report argues for the wisdom of their prosecution.

FAIL TO CAPTURE BANDITS

NOGALES, ARIZONA, March 1—Details of the pursuit across the international line of Mexican bandits who on Friday killed Alexander J. Fraser and wounded his brother, John A. Fraser, at Arivaca, Arizona, were expected to be made known today with the return of Sheriff R. R. Earhart.

Earhart, who headed a posse which unavailingly trailed the Mexicans with bloodhounds, gave up the chase yesterday and returned to Montana camp last night. The Mexicans cut all telephone wires reaching the Montana camp vicinity and the only information seeping through early today was that Earhart had started for Nogales.

Troop A of the tenth cavalry, a negro regiment, yesterday scoured the country around Ruby, Arizona, where the bandits were said to have reentered Mexico. It was stated that under existing orders troops could not cross the border except on a "hot trail" and that discovery of such a trail had not been reported to headquarters.

A committee of American workmen will confer with the governor tomorrow and request that American citizens replace aliens in the Panama canal service. Pending arbitration, the men who participated in the walkout must accept a rating next below that held at the beginning of the trouble in accordance with Governor Harding's ultimatum issued last Tuesday.

Evans was arrested this morning on complaint of his wife, Florence Evans, who told the court that he had frequently whipped her with a horse whip, the last time this morning. She further said that Evans had also struck her with his fist and that he constantly quarreled with her.

The County Board of Health, in session at the court house today, took steps to lend aid to the influenza stricken families in the vicinity of Rarden and Otway by instructing Health Commissioner Dr. R. The health commissioner reported that several cases of smallpox had been reported from Bloom, Jefferson and Morgan townships and that he had taken action in an effort to prevent a further spread of the disease.

Will Start New Drive

The drive to enforce the dog law, which has been delayed by the illness of Sheriff Rickey, is expected to start within a few days, now that the sheriff is back on the job to relieve Elza Canter, deputy and official dog catcher. The sale of dog tags has slowed up a bit the past few days and the officers believe that Canter will have to get action to increase the sales. A total of 2,475 licenses had been disposed of up until today, which, judging from the 1919 figures, some 2,000 untagged dogs are still outside the fold.

Stiff Fines Are Passed Around In Municipal Court

Some stiff fines were handed out by Judge Small in Municipal court this morning. Louis Underwood and Everett Boles, arrested in a raid on a card game at East Portsmouth last night, drawing $100 and costs each on charges of running a gambling house, and Clyde Smith and E. M. Hall, charged with gambling, were taxed $25 and costs. John Young and Henry Adkins, who were also taken in the raid, failed to appear for trial and their bonds were forfeited, while Harry Nelson was exonerated and the charge against him was dismissed. Boles and Underwood stated that the game had been in operation for about a month and they admitted they were in charge of the game and looking after the "take-off" for Charles Campbell, who is now at Hot Springs. The defendants all arranged to pay up.

Mrs. Katie Whitten, 1017 Thirteenth street, was found guilty of running a disorderly house and she was taxed $100 and costs, and the others, Edward Johnson, Tracy Hollingsworth, Will Manson and Cora Spaulding, all colored, taken in a raid on the place early by the police, were fined $10 each.

The police told the court that Mrs. Whitten has been permitting white girls to entertain men at her home, and the defendant admitted this was true in a couple of instances.

Sam Presley, white, of Sixteenth street, arrested by railroad detectives for stealing coal from a car in the North End yesterday, pleaded guilty to larceny and was sent to jail for 10 days and ordered to pay a fine of $10 and costs.

EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT

constitution and that the amendment functions of congress are limited.

The proposal of the eighteenth amendment "to the states," the brief asserts, is unconstitutional and is a revolutionary proceeding. Heretofore, it is stated, congress has proposed amendments "to the legislature's of the several states."

"The difficult course which was pursued in this instance was adopted understandingly and with a purpose," continues the brief. "It was necessary to depart from the practice which has always heretofore obtained, in order to carry out the new constitutional doctrine that the word amendment in Article V includes proposals covering the whole field of absolute sovereignty. In the proposal of the so-called amendment neither a power nor a subject matter within the scope of the federal constitution was dealt with. On the contrary, the power involved resided in the sovereign people of the respective states and in them exclusively. It was necessary therefore, in order to obtain a surrender of such power to propose the so-called amendment to those who possessed it.

"Recognizing the necessity, congress made the proposal of the so-called amendment to the respective states, that is, to the sovereign people of the respective states. Such a submission of the proposal to the states is now here recognized by the federal constitution and is a revolutionary proceeding.

"The entire procedure is revolutionary and without constitutional sanction.

"It surpasses all understanding that congress while submitting the proposal to the states, declares that their legislatures shall bind them.

"When, pray, did congress become the dictator over the sovereign people of a state with respect to their sovereign powers? Sovereignty resides in the peoples and they alone may express sovereign will."

HUGHES WANTS TO FILE BRIEF

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1—Charles E. Hughes asked the supreme court today for permission to present a brief of 21 states in support of the government's motion to dismiss the original proceedings brought by Rhode Island to test the constitutionality of the federal prohibition constitutional amendment. This case is to be argued next Monday.

At the same time William Marshall Bullitt, of Louisville, asked the court to hear arguments next Monday on appeals brought by the Kentucky distilleries and Warehouse Company from federal court decrees upholding the validity of the prohibition amendment.

ITALY WANTS MORE TOURISTS

ROME—Demand for immediate resumption of foreign tourist traffic is general in Italy despite a shortage of hotels and limited housing facilities. Premier Nitti and other government officials have declared it important to bring foreigners to Italy so as to lessen the balance of trade against this country and improve exchange rates.

In no peace time within the last 40 years have there been so few Americans in Rome as at present. Their number is said to be about 300. The hotels are virtually all crowded with Italians. Tourists who come without making reservations in advance find it difficult to obtain accommodations. The government requisitioned 50 of the largest hotels in Rome for war work so that hotel space is far below normal.

Hotelkeepers are making vigorous efforts to recover the use of their hostelries and each week a few hotels are turned back to their proprietors. But Rome has grown from 500,000 to 800,000 since the beginning of the war and lack of apartments and houses has forced Italian families into hotels as rapidly as room has become available.

Italian railways are making preparations for a heavy tourist traffic next spring. If so, they will not find conditions normal. Motor transportation is said to be almost out of the question. The cost of petrol is prohibitive and it is so scarce that it cannot be had in unlimited quantities at any price. Motor cars also are scarce and transportation by that method is high.

Stenographers Are Needed

The Commission again calls attention to the need for stenographers and typists in the Government offices at Washington. The most urgent need is for eligibles who are qualified in typewriting alone. There are about 10,000 stenographers and typists in the Government service at Washington, and in this large force the "turnover" is considerable. About 100 eligibles a month are needed.

Examinations held in Federal Bldg, Portsmouth, Ohio, every Tuesday.

Whiskey Is Stolen

Bold robbers again visited the home of Jay Stevens, at Mt. Joy last night, and made away with 125 gallons of liquor, in 25 gallon jugs, part of a supply that was stored in the house.

The robbery was discovered about nine o'clock this morning by Sam Fastnaugh, who is looking after the Stevens' property while Mr. Stevens is spending the winter months in the south.

On Jan. 16, a successful raid was made on the liquor supply, robbers at that time making away with 11 five gallon jugs, another jug being broken after it had been taken from the house. Deputy Sheriff Harry Dunham left this morning for Mt. Joy to see if any trace could be found of the robbers or stolen liquor.

HE HAD TO DO THE HOUSEWORK AND FARMWORK TOO

But When Nerv-Worth Rescued Wife From The "-'Flu" She Rescued Him From The Dishpan

In substance, source and value the following signed statement given a few days ago by C. C. Chandler of Richmond, near Steubenville, is one of the most forcible and convincing ever submitted in behalf of a medicine.

Beall & Steele—I have a double reason for praising Nerv-Worth. Last spring my wife had the "Flu" and she was not able to do the house work for a long time. We could not get any help and I had to work the farm and do housework, too. I read about some of the wonderful things Nerv-Worth was doing for people, and decided to try some for the wife.

She commenced to improve in three or four days after she started to take the medicine, and in less than two weeks was helping me with the housework. She soon got so she could do all the housework, and at the present time, I do not know of anybody that enjoys better health than she does.

I got out of doing the house work and got a well wife. That's why I have two reasons for praising Nerv-Worth.

What Is Rheumatism? Why Suffer from It?

Sufferers Should Realize That It Is a Blood Infection and Can Be Permanently Relieved

Rheumatism means that the blood has become saturated with uric acid poison.

It does not require medical advice to know that good health is absolutely dependent upon pure blood. When the muscles and joints become sore and drawn with rheumatism, it is not a wise thing to take a little salve and by rubbing it on the sore spot, expect to get rid of rheumatics. You must go deeper than that, down deep into the blood where the poison lurks and which is not affected by salves and ointments. It is important that you rid yourself of this terrible disease before it goes too far. S. S. S. is the cleanser that has stood the test of time, having been in constant use for more than fifty years. It will do for you what it has done for thousands of others. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, it will do the work and not harm the most delicate stomach.

The Thompson family lived on Dunlap near Barden, the family being well known in the community.

The parents leave six sons and two daughters, one grown son being at home to care for the parents.

Barden Appeals Again

There has been little or no improvement in the influenza situation at Barden in the last few days and this morning another appeal was made to the Red Cross to send a nurse or two to help out the stricken families.

Thomas Watson and family, wife and five children are down with influenza and pneumonia and so far neighbors have been unable to get a nurse to attend the family. Bill Watson a son of Mr. Watson is ill in Hempstead hospital. Relatives and neighbors are also ill and it is impossible to get help in the village. Many other families have several ill in the home.

MARCH CAME IN LIKE PROVERBIAL LAMB

With the thermometer registering 13 above zero, March appeared in the lamb-like character prophetic of the fact that the warm month will go out like a lion.

The snow which fell Saturday remained, for the most part covering the ground with a coat of white. There was scarcely any wind this morning it being an ideal winter morning.

Truly March's advent while chilly around the edges was gentle and calm.

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, wars, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—Pleise give me the name and address of the man of the United Fuel Co, to whom I should write for any information regarding the fuel situation. MAGGIE.

Walker D. Hines director general of the railroads has charge of the domestic distribution of the fuel. His headquarters are at Washington.

Dear Dolly—I am fond of eating beans. Do you think they will keep the flies away from me? And Dolly, are they healthy? COUNTRY GIRL.

Onions will keep everybody away from you. Onions must be pretty healthy. I have never heard of one being sick, have you?

Dear Dolly—A man was leading a cow across the Viaduct in East End of town with a saddle buckled on her back. Do they ride cows just the same as horses Do you think he was from Kentucky? CURIOUS BOY.

As a rule, people do not ride cows. Perhaps he was moving, or taking the cow and saddle to the same place, and as the saddle could not carry the cow, he made the cow carry the saddle. He may or may not have come from Kentucky.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl 18 and I love a boy, but he seems to love another girl better than me. I have walked with him many times. Will you tell me how to win his love. DOWN HEARTED.

The easiest way to win it is to forget him and get interested in some one else.

Dear Dolly—I am seventeen years of age and go with a fellow nineteen. Is this too young to go with a fellow. If a fellow asks a girl when he may come back should he or she make the date. After a girl has been to the show with a fellow, when they come home should the girl bring the boy in to the house. DIMPLES.

You are too young to have boys call on you. If he asks to call you should tell him when it would be convenient for you to have him come. If it is reasonably early when you return from the show he might come in for a few minutes.

Dear Dolly—Where could one send a dress to have it accordean pleated, and how much do you think it would cost. THANK YOU.

Inquire at the local department stores. They will send your goods away and have it done and tell you the approximate cost.

Dear Dolly—Can you tell us why the men are so curtous to the ladies when getting on the street cars They actually knock a lady down and step on her to get on the car first to get a seat near the store. They are always so nice about keeping the seat when they get it even if several ladies do have to stand up. I say shame on the fellows. LADY CAR RIDER.

Personally I don't think any less of a man because he keeps his seat on a street car. The only kick I have against the street cars is that their aisles ought to be about a mile long, so one could "step up" at every crossing, and let a few more on. More straps or holders could also be added. The seats are for sale, and it seems to be a case of first on first to get one. You don't expect men who buy seats in a theatre or picture show to get up and give their seats to the ladies, so why expect it on a street car. You would place a value of five cents to chivalry in a street car against any amount elsewhere. Of course people should see that the aged and infirm, and little children are comfortably seated wherever they happen to be.

Dear Miss Wise—Is Billie Burke married? Has she any children? Who is her husband? Is Dorothy Gish married? Who is her husband? How many children has she? Who plays with her? BEAUTY.

Billie Burke is married to Florenz Ziegfield. They have one child. Dorothy Gish is not married. She plays opposite different men.

Never Has Trouble After Meals Now,— Appetite Has Come Back

"I am glad to recommend Vola-Tonic to others because it proved to be just what I needed," said Mrs. Flossie White, 2735 Mead avenue, Cincinnati, O.

"All my life I have been troubled with my stomach," Mrs. Mead continued. "Everything I ate soured on my stomach and caused gas to form. If I ate a little more than usual within twenty minutes I'd be in intense pain and often I couldn't keep food on my stomach at all. I actually dreaded for meal time to come because I knew I'd be in misery after eating. Finally, my appetite left me almost entirely and I didn't eat enough to keep a bird alive.

"I had spells of dizziness also and it would seem like everything was whirling around and around.

"Vola-Tonic was recommended in the newspaper that I got a bottle and started taking it. Since then I have taken several bottles of Vola-Tonic and it has proved to be just what I needed.

"My appetite came back fine after I started taking Vola-Tonic and I am eating real meals now. My stomach is in excellent condition, too, and all the misery I had after meals is gone.

"I'm glad to recommend Vola-Tonic and hope others will try it."

How "Go Get 'Em Garringer" Cleaned Up The Triple Arrow Gang of Bandits and Gained The Girl of His Heart

Tonight the Temple offers a feature attraction entitled "Go Get 'Em Garringer," with Franklyn Farnum and Helene Chadwick. It is a five part Pathe photo production.

A story of the lawless border bandits of the west—of a sweet girl who was enmeshed in their web of infamy—of a two-fisted, quick-shooting Ieman who reveled in the sport of hunting gangsters. A regular right down western drama of the "wild and woolly" type, with occasional dashes of good comedy.

"Go Get 'Em Garringer", said the president of the Parsons Land Reclamation Company, to "Drive" Garringer. Did Garringer "Go Get 'Em" like somebody did! And while he was "Getting 'Em" his pace was fast and furious. This is "Some Western"—A thousand thrills in five reels.

Knoxville, Tenn.—"My back hurt me all the time, I was all run down, could not eat and my head bothered me, all caused by female trouble. I was three years with these troubles and doctors did me no good. Your medicine helped my sister so she advised me to take it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Liver Pills and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and now I am well, can eat heartily and work. I give you my thanks for your great medicines. You may publish my letter and I will tell everyone what your medicines did for me."—Mrs. Pearl Hill, 418 Jackson St., Knoxville, Tennessee.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

"Help! Help! Police!" Is Exciting George Walsh Picture at The Lincoln Tonight

There is plenty of rapid fire comedy in the new George Walsh feature, "Help! Help! Police!"

This is a most amusing love story, involving both the parents of the young people and the police. There are a merger of safety razor interests, a society crook and an abundance of thrilling action woven into the scenario and the play is put on with the dash and abandon of a raiding expedition against Huns. Mr. Walsh's leading lady is Alice Mann, who gives a very winning interpretation of a very sweet role.

"BLIND HUSBANDS"

"Blind Husbands" at Lyric Tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday

At last! The perfect photoplay! A love story as appealing as the most beautiful romance in your memory—an adventure picture as gripping as any serial thriller—a scenic marvel as wondrous as the most inspiring travel picture. But, first and foremost—a human drama of an artistic quality not before felt or seen in moving pictures. Whose people are real flesh-and-blood struggling for happiness, each in his own way rising, falling, stumbling upwards—whose settings are wonders of photo-realism—whose faithful detail is an eye-and-mind delight—whose story holds your heart a helpless prisoner till the last tremendous moment comes and the glorious surprise sends you away in a glow of happiness. It is needless to give you here the drama's theme—the pictures in this announcement tell the story. With its absorbing action staged amidst enthralling Alpine scenery, "Blind Husbands"—the story of two men and a neglected wife—is a soul-revelation whose emotions rise as high as the peaks towering out of that abyss towards which Fate implacably drives one of these two men. See "Blind Husbands" without fail. It is the picture you'll never forget.

"THE SPEED MANIAC" WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

Tom Mix in "The Speed Maniac" Coming to the Lyric Next Thursday

"The Speed Maniac" was billed for a showing at the Lyric recently—but the film was lost in transit and manager Mack had to substitute a Wm. Farnum picture. Now it is booked for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. "The Speed Maniac" is the most thrilling picture Mix has ever made, and that's saying a lot—but it is, without a doubt, the fastest moving picture in the history of the screen. There are thrills galore—the suspense is intense—and the love affair is a peach of a romance.

Don't Miss Mary Pickford in "The Hoodlum," The Second Picture From Her Own Studio, Showing at The New Eastland Theatre Tonight —The Picture of a Thousand Laghs—It's Great

Mary Pickford's second great picture from her own studios, "The Hoodlum" will be the delightful attraction at the New Eastland theatre tonight. The Hoodlum" has been termed the picture of a thousand laughs and it is unquestionably the greatest character study of Mary Pickford's career. As Amy Burke, the French heeled, crepe-de-chined grandchild of the millionaire Alexander Guthrie, who did not have a cent in the world, drove her jazz-model chummy roadster about the streets of New York, was waited upon by four maids, was tutored by a high priced teacher whose doctrines went into Amy's right ear and out her left, and was literally idolized by the heavy moneyed Guthrie who some people said was of considerable influence on Wall Street. Mary Pickford gives us the most delightful characterization she has ever done. In fact in this play you see ten different Mary Pickfords. Whatever you do, don't let anything keep you from seeing "The Hoodlum." A screaming big V comedy will be the added attraction tonight. Come early.

A Picture With a Tremendous Appeal—That Is "The Sawdust Doll," Starring Baby Marie Osborne, At The Strand Tonight. A Sunshine Picture For The Whole Family

We are told that there is a wealth of precious things in the mind of a child—beautiful sentiment, wonderful dreams and a belief in human nature, which puts most of us oldsters to shame. Agnes C. Johnston, author of "The Sawdust Doll," starring Baby Marie Osborne, which will be shown at the Strand tonight, has a fine appreciation and sympathetic understanding of childhood.

Poor, motherless Sallie Lou! Her passionate little heart yearns for love, and all of her devotion centered upon her homely, ragged plaything, making her prayer singularly pathetic:

"A sawdust dolly-mother is better'n none; but please, if you have any really truly mothers to spare—please don't forget Sallie Lou!"

How did she get a real mother, despite obstacles, temptation and the development of a sudden astounding conspiracy, sweeps the mere childish story into the realms of big, strenuous happenings.

Financial Vitality

Money is the breath of Business. Shut it off for even a short time and the heart of an Industry stops.

The Geiger-Jones Principle of Progressive Financing is a perfected recognition of this fact—that when a corporation needs money for legitimate expansion it should be sure of getting it.

For this reason The Geiger-Jones Company for fifteen years has stood in a far higher place than that of a mere Underwriter of Corporation Securities. It has been a financial support in providing ready money for its corporation clients when unpreventable accidents, such as fire, or the expansion of markets, or other reasons, made it necessary to safeguard or promote the interests of both stockholders and industries.

How we have achieved a national reputation for mutual services to both investors and corporations is presented in a booklet that will be sent free on request.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 1—Return of the railroads to private operation stimulated further buying of railway shares and kindred equipments at the opening of today's stock market. Motors also were carried along by the movement which was broad enough to suggest a moderate revival of public interest. Gains of one to three points were made by Baltimore & Ohio, Texas Pacific, Seaboard preferred, Missouri Pacific preferred, Wabash preferred "A" and some of the more representative rails, including Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, and Chicago and Northwestern. Included among the leading industrials were American Car, American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive, United States Rubber and General Motors.

Most of the early advance in rails and associated industrials was lost within the first hour when pressure against motors, oils, steels, textiles and leathers resulted in extreme reactions of 2 to 7 points. The shorts evidently based their further aggression on last week's return of the federal reserve banks which made only slight improvement from their recent unfavorable position. Buying of rails diminished with the progress of the session and trading in other quarters of the list dwindled. The foreign exchange market was firm and call money opened and renewed at 10 per cent.

Stocks were dull and irregular during the early and intermediate period of today's trading but finished at variable gains. The decision of the United States supreme court favoring the United States Steel Corporation was the deciding factor. Sales approximated 600,000 shares.

The closing was strong.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Mar. 1—Belief that private estimates of farm reserves of grain would show large holdings tended today to weaken the corn market. Opening prices, which ranged from ¾c decline to ¾c advance, with May 130¾ to 131¼ and July 130⅝ to 130 7-8, were followed by moderate upturns and then by a nearly general fresh setback.

Prices closed nervous at the same as Saturday's finish to ¾c lower, with May 130 3-4 to 130¾ and July 131 to 131 1-8.

Oats were relatively firm as a result of speculative buying. After opening unchanged to ⅛c off including May at 79 [illegible] to [illegible], the market scored gains all around.

Declines in the value of hogs exerted a depressing influence on provisions. Besides, demand lacked volume.

Pin Bouncers To Hold Annual Bowling Tournament In Peoria

Success is assured for the twentieth annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress to be held at Peoria Ill., beginning March 10th and continuing for three or four full weeks, as entries are in the hands of Secretary Langtry for over five hundred and fifty teams and three weeks still remain before the entries close on March 15th.

The officials of the Congress are seriously considering the extending of the closing date to April 3d in order to accommodate the anticipated huge list of contestants, most of whom come at the last minute.

The Birk Bros. team of Chicago, recently bowled 1151 pins in one game in Chicago and are the team that hold the world's record of 3031 made at Grand Rapids tournament in 1917, are entered in the tournament together with the Acquilla Cigars, of St. Paul, now bowling under the name of Franksen and Lane, and who are the other "3000" team that has won honors at the world's championship contest.

MANY TEAMS WILL TRAIN DOWN IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Tex.—Experts in preparation of playing fields and other training camp attaches are invading Texas to prepare the way for the four major league baseball clubs that will train in this state.

Two clubs from each league will get their spring practice in Texas, the New York Nationals at San Antonio and the St. Louis Nationals at Brownsville, while the Chicago Americans will hold forth at Waco and the St. Louis Americans at Taylor.

Each team has arranged a series of exhibition games, starting with Texas League teams or major league clubs training nearby, and winding up with clubs in cities along the route to the respective team's home camps.

Last year the New York Giants took their season's warming up exercises at Gainesville, Fla., while the St. Louis Cardinals worked out at home. The Chicago White Sox camped for spring work at Mineral Wells, Tex., and the St. Louis Browns were at San Antonio.

Spring work will get under way in earnest between March 1 and 15 in all four Texas camps, although battery men will have a few day's start to get their arms in condition warranting heavy workout when the rest of the squads report.

In point of location of spring camps in Texas, the Cardinals will be the farthest south, as Brownsville it at the extreme southern point of the state, on the Rio Grande, and just across that river lies the Mexican city of Matamoras. Waco is about 100 miles directly south of Dallas, toward San Antonio, and Taylor lies between Waco and San Antonio.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Many brilliant stars of baldom have aged o'er the diamond paths at League Park, where the New York Nationals will go into spring training March 2 for the 1920 season.

In the park's history, a long line of diamond celebrities have tanned under a glowing sun during spring training, and many an ambitious recruit from the "sticks" has found the spirit of hope or despair lurking in the shadows of its dugouts.

The Philadelphia Americans trained at League Park in 1913 and 1914, and the St. Louis Nationals worked out there in the spring of 1915, 1916, 1917 and 1918. The Cardinals went to Hot Wells, near here, in 1915, but did most of their work at League Park, with the Cleveland Indians.

The New York Giants had brief experience with the park in 1916 when they put on the finishing touches of their spring work here. In 1919, the St. Louis Brown started one of their most successful seasons by developing pitching arms and batting eyes here.

In addition to a training season of about three weeks for the Giants, the local park will be used for an unusual number of exhibition games this spring. The Giants will play the Boston Red Sox here in an exhibition March 24. The St. Louis Browns will play the San Antonio (Texas League) team March 20 and 21 and the Chicago White Sox will play the locals March 31.

The Giants will arrive here the night of March 1, according to present plans.

Except on dates already fixed, the Giants will oppose the San Antonio club every Saturday and Sunday.

WACO, Tex.—While the vanguard of the Chicago American league club is expected to reach Waco the first week in March for spring training, present plans indicate the main body will not arrive until the second week.

Only twice have major league teams trained here, the White Sox worked out here in 1912 and the St. Louis Americans in 1913. The Indianapolis club of the American association was here for a part of its spring training in 1912.

Katy Park will be the scene of the White Sox activities this year, the home of the Waco club while a member of the Texas league.

The previous spring workout of the White Sox here, in 1912, marked the initial trial of the now brilliant infielders, Weaver and Rath, and it was at Waco, too, that Benz developed into a first string hurler.

"Manager Moran intends to stand pat on his winning team. We hope to have all the boys signed up and ready to leave for the training camp on Friday morning. GASOLINE PRODUCTION MUST BE INCREASED

Gasoline production by refineries in the United States will have to be greatly increased during 1920 to meet the demand by motor vehicle and internal combustion engines, which showed a larger rate of increase in 1919 than did gasoline, says the Wall Street Journal.

Refineries manufactured an estimated 92,700,000 barrels of gasoline in 1919, an increase of 7,100,000 barrels, or 9 percent over 1918. The number of motor cars registered at end of 1919, is estimated at 7,500,000, gain of 27 percent for 1918. This includes only passenger and commercial cars, and not tractors, motor boats and gas engines.

Automobile manufacturers are projecting to put 2,765,000 cars, including 1,500,000 commercial cars, on the market this year and allowing for 20 percent replacements, this would make the number in use in 1920 about 8,675,000. The average car consumes about 500 gallons, or 12¾ barrels of gasoline a year. This would mean that during 1920 at least 100,000,000 barrels of gasoline must be produced by refineries for domestic consumption. Add to this 10,000,000 barrels, which will be needed for exports, tractors and other use, and a total of 110,000,000 barrels will be needed. This is an increase of 17,000,000 barrels over 1919. Exports were about 8,000,000 barrels last year, or about 9 percent of the total.

NEW ORCHID IS IN BLOOM

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A new orchid which required five year of the careful nurturing that is required by all orchids to create and bring to flower, is in bloom at the Missouri Botanical gardens here.

The parents of this orchid were crossed in February, 1915, the seed was ripened and plants in October of that year and the bloom has just appeared.

It has been named the D. S. Brown orchid in honor of the late D. S. Brown, of Kirkwood, Mo., who gave to the garden a collection of orchid plants valued at least at $100,000, and which brought the orchid collection at the Garden to rank as the best in America.

According to George H. Pring, horticulturist of the Garden, the history of this orchid demonstrates why the orchid will soon be placed beyond the reach of milady who now covets it for her corsage.

Mr. Pring says: "The government recently has prohibited the importation of orchid plants because of the belief that certain injurious insects are brought in with the plants which come from the tropics. You have seen how feeders in the development of orchid plants from seed. The result is that the florist who now grows the cattleya or parsons commercial orchid cannot hope to perpetuate the flower. Those that he does raise soon will disappear unless the ban on importation is lifted. It requires eight years to grow a cattleya to a point where its flower has commercial value. And the life of the ordinary plant after blossoming in but five years, with a solitary blossom each year."

The new orchid is the lady slipper variety, its parents being from the Brown collection. Its parents were chocolate brown, but it reverted to the color of one of its grandparents and is yellow, with a light pink upper sepal. It is larger than the flower of either of its parents and even so, has not yet reached its full growth, which will come after a second or third blooming.

Prohibition Decreases Number of Paupers

GALVESTON, Texas — Prohibition has so decreased the number of paupers throughout the United States that the country's medical colleges are facing a shortage of bodies for laboratory instruction work, according to Dr. William Keiller, professor of anatomy of the University of Texas.

"There are fewer sick men than in the bygone 'wet' days, as sober men have enough sense to protect themselves in bad weather," Dr. Keiller said. "Absence of intoxicants and not high wages, is responsible for the scarcity of paupers, as many men would spend most of their earnings for liquor no matter how much they made," he added.

People who formerly patronized the charity wards of the large hospitals and clinics, now frequently drive up to the front door of the best institutions in their own automobiles, the professor said.

Vanadium Highly Important.

For the latest types of engineering work, such as airplanes submarines, torpedoes and similar work, the possession of a material of high resistance to stresses of all kinds makes some of the most difficult elements of the work to be solved. While the application of vanadium to steel does this, and thus constitutes at present its most important use, it has also a marked influence upon cast iron and upon copper.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

BY ZOE BECKLEY

When Jim told me today about a business scheme that has been on his mind for weeks I realized for the first time how little the average wife understands her husband's work. Business is Greek to me. When Jim talked of contracts, profits, percentages and risks I felt like running away. It was only when it dawned on me that it was a real problem, the decision of which will affect our whole lives, that I forced myself to listen and try to comprehend.

"But, Jim," I puzzled with knit brows, "it would mean our leaving Hammonds Corners and going to Silvermand lake."

"It would, eventually," he answered. "That's the main difficulty, under present circumstances. There are three months of development work necessary before the place would be in shape as an amusement park. I would practically have to live there in a rough shack with a gang of men, hustling day and night. Then, if we make a go of it, there should be big returns—a fortune really! The fellow who owns the land has put his last dollar into the scheme. He needs a couple of thousand more for immediate improvements, and I've saved that much. But I'd hate to devote my whole time and energy to it. What do you say, dear? Shall we be sports and take a chance? It's almost a certainty."

"It's so—so sudden, Jimmie; I don't know what to say. And it's all so vague to me yet," I answered, with spinning brain. "We're awfully comfortable here——"

"Yes, but we mustn't settle down into mere comfort because it's the easiest thing to do. We want to get on, don't we, dear? We want to give the kiddie a good start in life. We want to keep our brains polished up by use and exercise, don't we? We want to play the big game in life, not 'play safe' just because there's a risk in the other."

"Women are like cats, I suppose, Jimsy. They hate to be poked out of their comfortable corners. And we have just got this house into homey shape and the garden fixed and the furniture all to suit and——"

"Oh, come, come, pussykitten; those are trifles. What worries me is you. It would mean you would have to be here alone a good part of the next half year. Or take a run out to Centerville and see the mother and dad. Or have them come her. Or go back to little old New York and put up with Mrs. Hast. I guess she'd take you in, all right. Or something—you'll have to decide."

The mention of New York and Athena Hast made my heart leap. Jim was looking at me eagerly, fired with the enthusiasm of a boy at his first big chance to make good. I almost said yes without weighing the pros and cons of the move. Then the more serious aspects of the thing came to my mind—the separation from Jim just at the time I need him most, the breaking up of our home, the risks of the venture, the decision as to where tiny Jim, Jr., shall make his debut in the world.

"Don't answer now," said Jim, patting my cheek, "think it over. Remember I leave the decision to you, little Mrs. Goodsport!"

How I wish I had some sensible, experienced woman to talk it over with! No husband, somehow, can ever take the place of a woman friend. Ah! an idea! I'll get Athena on the long distance.

CHARLES R. CRANE

Charles R. Crane has been offered the appointment as U. S. minister to Japan, named recently by President Wilson. He is a Chicago millionaire and world traveler.

Crane has been before the public eye politically before. He was appointed to the same post by President Taft in 1909, but was recalled while on his way to Peking. It is believed that his recall was at the suggestion of the Japanese officials, they resenting his appointment and the selection of his secretary, a man who had written material construed to be anti-Japanese.

Earlier in President Wilson's administration Crane was offered the post of ambassador to Russia, but refused it. Later he was asked to be a member of the mission headed by former Secretary Root which investigated the Russian situation.

BY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Mar. 1—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up and my poor head aching with the ague and fever but I fought it off and by breakfast I was well and did eat a newly catched trout. It being kept a holiday through the city I walked on to the The Mall and met Mr. Atwell and his lovable dchoy son and heard the music, very sweet. My wife, poor wretch, talkin mightily about a great sort of fur which it appears is cheaper to buy now but I veer the talk into other channels, very noble.

Put out for a cinema hall to see a widely talked of play actress whose name is in the public journals constantly and found her a pretty-humoured wretch but with no ability soever and I did ask B. Mantle, the critic, if the lady had ever attempted stage roles or speaking parts and he confided that she was unable because she stuttered.

Home where I retied to catalogue my books alphabetically but I have so few that it was silly and I gave it up. The streets are still very dirty and chimneys down from the storm and very few visitors come and I have come into the habit of going to bed at nine each night and like it mighty well.

I was frighted in the afternoon when I heard a moan under the window seat and I called to my neighbor who came but we could find nothing and he suggested a game of dice and we played, I loding ten shillings, and I believe him to be a rotten-hearted, false man and will have no more of his company.

All the late afternoon reading and my wife and Mistress Aimee dined with me in our chambers and I made them laugh and merry dinning skirt dances in my house gown and singing Marguerite falsetto and Hamish MacLaurin, the Scotch fellow, came in the dol-drums and we made merry, too. And so to bed full of fine and pleasant thoughts at midnight.

The other evening a group of New Yorkers were dining at one of those Westchester road houses run by a hook-nosed, rapacious looking Oriental. It is a place of garnish splendor, the air heavy with the acrid smell of cigarettes and the muscular exertion of the "shimmy." The Hawaiian dancer—from Harlem—and all the other fixtures of the old time Broadway jazz houses are there. A prize fighter come in. He has been living on past glories and drinking all the booze he could find. With him was the ingenue of burlesque and both were in their cups. They started to dance and jostled the other dancers. Finally they had the floor to themselves, because their actions were so disgusting. The group of New Yorkers looked on for a time and started to go. "Whazza matter, don't you like our dancin'?" leered the prize fighter. "No, I don't and I don't like you," and so saying one drew back and knocked the prize fighter out for the count. It developed that the hero was a book-keeper in a hay and feed store on Canal street and had never been in a road house before. There are a lot of O. Henry stories in real life.

Manhattan beggars are hiring barkers. Down on Brooklyn Bridge a beggar in a wheel chair has an alert young man who solicits alms from the passers-by. "Come on" he cries, "give something to a feller who is down and out. You may be down and out yourself some day. Nobody knows."

Broadway is buying corn whiskey moonshined, so the reports go, for $15 a bottle. It is said that taxi drivers are in most cases the agents and that they will not deliver it until they have reached some lonely spot in Central Park. Thus it is that you get roto-drama with your shot of booch these days—dark spot in park, low hung moon, stately trees, modern pirate, Brr-r!

GLYCERINE KEEPS RADIATOR CLEAN

"It has been found that glycerine keeps the radiator clean," says John D. Mansfield, General Sales Manager of teh Dort Motor Car Company. "Glycerine in the radiator has a tendency to keep down scale. It has long been used in steam boiler operations for just this purpose. In winter driving it can be used for the double purpose of an anti-freeze solution."

SAME STORY IN BRITAIN AS IN U. S.

LONDON—Wages continued to advance, hours of labor to shrink and the cost of living went higher than ever before in this country in 1919, according to the Labor Gazette.

"There was a marked reduction in hours of work, the decreases affecting 6,400,000 workers, with an aggregate reduction in weekly hours of 41,161,000," adds the paper. "This was an average reduction of six and one-half hours a week for each worker." Increases granted to 5,647,000 employes aggregated 2,111,000 pounds a week.

There were in the year 1,413 trade disputes involving 2,570,000 workers, as a result of which they lost a total of 34,451,000 working hours.

The general level of retail prices of the end of 1919 for food, rent, clothing, fuel and light was 125 per cent above that of July, 1914, according to the Gazette. This was in increase of five precent in the year.

On January 1, 1920, food, stood at 136 percent above pre-war retail prices.

EXPRESS GRATITUDE TO AMERICA

PEKING,—Gratitude to America for the attitude of the United States Congress on the Shantung question was expressed by Chinese statesmen in addresses welcoming Admiral Albert Gleaves, Commander of the United State Asiatic fleet, here.

Premier Chin Yun Peng who gave a dinner in honor of Admiral Gleaves said:

"The friendly relations which have always existed between America and China, and especially the recent settlement in Europe cannot but command the gratitude and admiration of our people.

"We believe that our country has in late years made some progress as a republic; but we realize that from you, a republic of riper experience, we may learn many profitable lessons. We hope to secure from you constant advice and counsel so that we may cooperate to maintain the permanent peace of the Pacific. This is the sincere wish of the Chinese people."

Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, former premier of the Chinese cabinet and present head of the National Defense Board said:

"I cannot refrain from mentioning the admirable attitude of the American congress toward the Far Eastern question in the matter of the Peace Treaty. It seems that public opinion in America is being guided much more by ideals than by interests. Your diplomacy is endeavoring not merely to prevent war today but to maintain peace forever. You set a fine example for the people of your sister republic who will look to you for cooperation and counsel when the Pacific question comes to be settled."

"Judging from the knocks I am getting from life, I should say it was a brickbat."

A Woman's Answer

"Do you know why money is so scarce, brothers, why living expenses are so high?" demanded the curbstone orator of a fair-sized section of the back-bone and brawn of the nation, while they waited in leisurely patience for the answer.

A tired-looking woman with a market basket on her arm, paused for a moment on the edge of the crowd. Then she spoke curtly:

"Yes," I know why money is so scarce. It's because you men stand around on the streets telling each other why, instead of hustling to see that it ain't."

First and Last

Miss Roach (Till then)—"It's quite a secret, but I was married last week to Mr. Fred O'Neal."

Mr. True—"Indeed! I should have thought you'd be the last person in the world to marry him."

Miss Roach (Mrs. O'Neal)—"Well, I hope I am!"

At The Mill

Mr. Young—"They say the ex-kaiser is spending $1,000 a week."

Logger—"Woodcheppers must be getting a lot of pay in Holland."

Anything for Motor Trouble

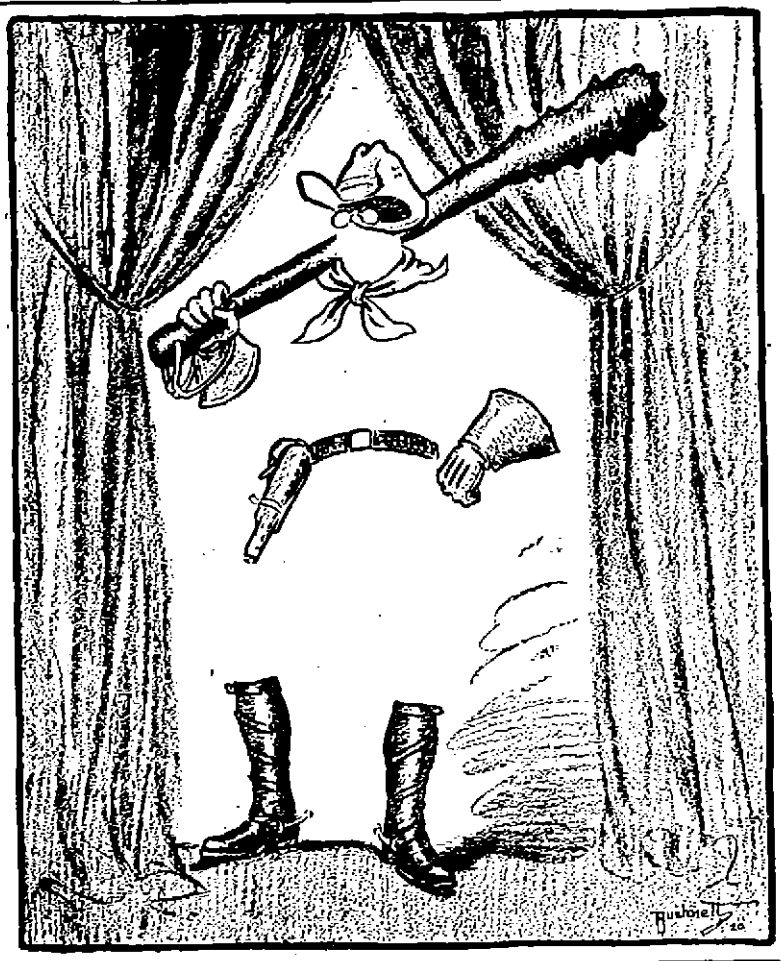

Stranded Motorist (before farm house)—"Sonny, will you run in and ask the folks if they can furnish me a little lubricating oil for my engine? Castor oil will do."

Sonny (returning)—"Ma says we haven't got any castor oil, but she can send you some salts, if you want them."

TRYING TO WAKE 'EM UP

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA—Major General J. G. Legge, head of the Australian Military Aeronautic Service, is trying to wake up Australians to the need of preparation for air defense in case of war. He declared in a recent speech "Australia must fly or die, unless she is willing to change her color from white to yellow, brown or black."

THE COVETED MANTLE OF ASPIRING G. O. P. CANDIDATES

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Tuesday turned out to be a dismal, cold, rainy day and Billy was glad enough to stay quietly in the tent. He thought it would be a good chance to become better acquainted with the animals in the cages and he decided to call on them all by beginning at one cage and visiting each in order until he had completed the circle.

He could not stay where he was for Nanny, the old maid camel, made him nervous; she talked so much, and when she was not talking she chewed her cud like an old maid chews gum.

"How can you stand her?" Billy whispered to the elephant.

"Oh, I have got used to it," said the elephant, "and I don't hear her half the time, and when she gets too bad I just pull the flops of my ears down tight to my head, and I can't hear a word. And then I set my trunk to wobbling and make it nod 'yes' half the time and 'no' the other, and I find it answers quite well."

"But how do you know when to say 'yes' and when to say 'no'?" Billy asked.

"I don't mind if I do answer wrong part of the time, and if I get too much off she stops talking altogether and that pleases me better, so you see it answers very well."

"But don't you get tired leading such an inactive life?" asked Billy.

"I used to," answered the elephant, "when I was younger, and before my mate died. But since she died and I have rheumatism I don't seem to care much, for without her there would be nothing to do if I did run away; besides your climate is so cold, and your forests so skinny and bare looking there would not be any fun living in them."

"Our forests skinny and bare looking, did you say? You don't know what you are talking about. I guess our forests are as nice as yours in India, and not half so full of snakes and chattering monkeys, to say nothing of the nasty crocodiles and hippopotamuses that you have in your rivers, and vines growing all over the trees and from one tree to another, so thickly you can't walk without making a path for yourself by breaking them down."

"Oh, but that is just what I like," said the elephant, "and the air is so hot and moist you feel fine, while here you are either all dried up with heat or shivering with cold."

"Well, every one to his taste, I suppose," and he walked over to the hyenas' cage to make their acquaintance out of curiosity, as he knew little about hyenas.

RECONSTRUCTING WRECKED TOWNS

LAREDO, Texas—Reconstruction of the towns destroyed by the recent earthquake in the Mexican state of Vera Cruz is proceeding rapidly, according to the Mexico City newspaper Excelsior.

Buildings of "solid construction" are giving way to the frame structures, the newspaper says, and while the new buildings "do not present the agreeable appearance of the former edifices, many of which dated back to colonial times, they will be safer for residents."

The governor of Vera Cruz has signed a contract with a Mexico City construction company for the erection of the first 500 wooden houses, which the Excelsior's staff correspondent says "are of coquettish appearance."

RAILROADS RETURN TO OWNERS

Italian Premier Ready To Accept Compromise Plan

ROME, March 1—(Havas)—Premier Nitti is disposed to accept a compromise settlement of the Adriatic question, according to the Messaggero. By this arrangement, the newspaper says, Italy would not claim territorial continuity between Istria and Fiume on condition that the city be placed under Italian sovereignty. The League of Nations, it is said, would be in charge of the administration of the port.

Siege Of Fiume Begun By Italy

FIUME, March 1.—A siege of Fiume has begun with a stringent blockade against commodities, including foodstuffs.

"Perhaps we may appear to be brutal toward those occupying Fiume," said General Vaviglia, of the government forces today, "but it is not so—of the city." The Socialists also have been included in the general clouding against the forces of Gabriele d'Annunzio. We shall exercise an iron blockade against the forces of D'Annunzio and of the city." Public meetings and demonstrations of any sort not having the consent of the soldiers and police have been prohibited.

Officers Deserting

"D'Annunzio's forces have been considerably diminished during the past weeks by desertions. This is especially noticeable among the officers, the number of whom has fallen off by several hundreds that the situation thirty percent.

"I am not offering them the slightest atom, but the children must be cared for. That is why I allowed two hundred children to come out of Fiume and proceed to Milan."

City In Despair

The correspondent has gleaned opinions of all sorts in Fiume. Those of the citizens with whom he has talked was critical and that the city now is in the deepest of despair, financially and commercially.

Gabriele d'Annunzio has ordered another deportation of Croats and other foreigners who are "pernicious by their presence for the proper defense of the city." Public meetings and demonstrations of any sort not having the consent of the soldiers and police have been prohibited.

FRENCH STRIKE SITUATION IMPROVED

PARIS, March 1—Railroad men mobilized by the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean systems were reporting in increasing numbers last night, and what little change there is in the strike situation this morning, seems to be for the better. So far the general strike called on Saturday morning may be said to be a failure, as members of railroad men, even union adherents, are refusing to quit, particularly in the provinces.

Inconvenience is being suffered by the public and freight service is being disorganized, however, by the existing strike conditions. Five railroad strike leaders were arrested today charged with interference with the liberty to work and provoking disobedience.

ULTIMATUM FROM FOES OF TREATY

WASHINGTON, March 29—The latest ultimatum from the group irreconcilables, in which they served notice on Senator Lodge, Republican leader, that if any attempt were made to modify the Article 10 reservation they would reserve to themselves "liberty of action" when consideration of the pact was resumed. Today was the principal development in the senate peace treaty imbroglio.

ATTEMPT TO KILL BRITISH MINISTER

LONDON, March 1.—It is authoritatively learned that an unsuccessful attempt has been made to assassinate Lord Acton, the British minister to Finland, at Helsingfors.

Lord Acton was driving to the market place in the early morning when shots were fired at him, but he was not struck. No arrests have been made. The motive for the attack has not been learned.

ACCEPT OFFER OF MEDIATION

PANAMA, Sunday, Feb. 29—Leaders of striking canal zone maintenance of way workers tonight accepted the offer of mediation made by Andrew Percy Bennett, British minister to Panama, and the men are expected to return to work tomorrow. This is in spite of Governor Harding's refusal to grant amnesty to strikers whose arrests have been ordered.

A committee of American workmen will confer with the governor tomorrow, and request that American citizens replace aliens in the Panama canal service. Pending arbitration, the men who participated in the walk-out must accept a rating next below that held at the beginning of the trouble in accordance with Governor Harding's ultimatum issued last Tuesday.

H. C. L. HITS FIJI ISLANDS

SUVA, FIJI ISLANDS—The high cost of living is afflicting even the inhabitants of these remote islands. Some 1,500 Indian laborers here have struck for increased wages owing to "dear living."

NUGGET OF COPPER, MINED IN BOLIVIA, IS EXACT SHAPE OF SOUTH AMERICA; SIAM SENDS ANCIENT JAP PUPPETS

The piece of copper shown above was recently presented to the U. S. Smithsonian Institute by Bolivia. It is in the exact shape in which it was taken from a mine in Bolivia, except the outline of that country which has been worked in in silver. It is a co-instance that this metal from a South American mine should form such a perfect map of South America. With the copper are shown ancient Japanese shadow pictures and puppets presented to National Museum by the king of Siam. Group contains shadow picture of Rama, the hero of the "Ramayana," with his wife Sita, and the villain of the drama, Ravana, the leader of the Devil-giants, the Rakanasas.

WASHINGTON RICH IN BRAINS BUT POORLY ORGANIZED, SAYS LANE IN PARTING REMARKS

WASHINGTON, March 1—Official Washington, "a combination of political cliques, drawing room and civil service bureaus," containing "statesmen who are politicians and politicians who are not statesmen," is poorly organized for its task which "fewer men of larger capacity would do better."

Such is an epitome of the views of Franklin K. Lane, retiring secretary of the interior, expressed in a characteristic parting report to the president on the occasion of leaving public life today after more than 20 years' service—the last seven in the cabinet.

Rich In Brains

"Washington," says the retiring secretary, "is rich in brains and character. It is honest beyond any commercial standard. It wishes to do everything that will promote the public good. But it is poorly organized for the task that belongs to it. Fewer men of larger capacity would do the task better. Ability is not lacking. But it is pressed to the point of paralysis because of an inhibitude of details and an unwillingness on the part of the great body of public servants to take responsibility. Everyone seems to be afraid of everyone.

"The self-protective sense is developed abnormally. The creative sense atrophies. Trust, confidence, enthusiasm—these simple virtues of all great business, are the ones most lacking in government organization.

Too Many Brakes

"We have so many clerks and brakes upon our work that our progress does not keep pace with the nation's requirements.

"We could save money for the government if we had more discretion as to how we should use that given us. In the body of public servants there should be quick promotion or discharge and a sure insurance when disability comes.

"For the higher administrative officers there should be salaries twice as high as those now given, and they should be made to feel that they are the ones responsible for the work of the department; the head being merely an adviser and a constructor of policies.

Few Planners Found

"As matters are now devised there are too few in the government who see business as to plan. Every man is held to details, to the narrower view, which comes too often to be the departmental view or some sort of parochial view. We need for the day that is here and upon us men who have little to do but study the problems of the time and test their capacity at meeting them.

"In a word, we need more opportunity for planning, engineering, statesmanship above, and more fixed authority and responsibility below."

Describing the interior department as an abiding place for a group of unrelated governmental agencies, the retiring secretary characterizes it none the less as the "most distinctive, by American of all the departments," and reviews all the aims and accomplishments of his administration, some of the former unrealized.

Alaska Hampered By Tape

Construction of the Alaskan railway, opening of Alaskan coal lands by a leasing system, water power development legislation and a leasing system of oil and mineral lands on the public domain are enumerated among the latter.

Alaska, the secretary thinks, is hampered by too much "red tape" in Washington, which is a static policy in many of the government's bureaus. Alaska, Mr. Lane says, should be administered by a federal board in the territory, be policed by a constabulary, as was northwestern Canada, should have its coasts made safe for navigation and have Canadian muskox crossed with the native reindeer to furnish a new meat supply in the Pacific coast.

Appropriations for development of the capital as an educational center for the country, farms for soldiers and development of natural resources are among the projects Mr. Lane leaves behind him, and his report ar*gues for the wisdom of their presence.*

REBEL CHIEFS CAPTURED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—Cirilo Arenas, a rebel leader, has been captured by secret military police at Puebla, according to a telegram from Governor Alfonso Cabrera, of that state. Arenas was taken into custody when he attempted to enter the city of Puebla after leaving the gulf coast region. About a year ago a brigade of soldiers under command of Arenas and protecting the inter-oceanic railway revolted after Arenas received a large sum for the payment of the troops. Since that time this force has been operating with constantly decreasing success in outlying portions of Puebla and Tlaxcala.

Semi-official reports announce the capture of Marcelo Caraveo, in the state of Tamaulipas. This band has in recent years attained considerable notoriety.

Newspapers here is commenting upon the capture of Arenas and Caraveo point out the progress made by the present administration toward "complete pacification of the country", before the July elections and the change in the government. They recall other important captures during the last year and declare that resistance from bandits is rapidly disappearing.

The capture or surrender of more than a score of minor outlaws throughout the country also occurred during the year. This leaves only Francisco Villa, who is operating with a small force in a circumscribed district in the north, and Manuel Pelaez and Felix Diaz, who are virtually powerless in the gulf coast region.

GOVERNMENT RELEASES ITS CONTROL

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—The United States railroad administration, the governmental agency which for more than two years has controlled the operation of the nation's railroad systems, today passed out of existence.

With its passing at midnight, the 250 lines that had been merged into what was practically one gigantic system again went under control of private interests, free to operate in co-operation as of old.

The transfer from government to private control was without incident and there was nothing to indicate to the traveling public that there had been a change.

Of the staff of directors and executives who controlled the roads during government operation, Director General Hines alone remains. He will have no authority in directing the operation of the systems and remains simply to clear up matters left pending when the government relinquished control. These include thousands of claims, contracts and grievances yet to be settled and among which are 88 compensation contracts with various roads which still are the subject of negotiations.

Terms of Railroad Bill

Under the so-called railroad reorganization bill, which governed the return of the transportation systems to private ownership, but little jurisdiction is retained by the government. Under its terms the interstate commerce commission is given greater power to control rates and compulsory *arbitration of labor disputes is re*quired. The government also retains a certain amount of control over their bond issues but of the same time insures a fixed percentage of profit and makes it possible for the corporations to secure loan from a federal fund set aside for that purpose.

Specifically, the bill authorizes the president to settle all questions, including compensation and appropriates $200,000,000 for this purpose.

Provides guarantee of "standard return" to carriers for a period of six months after the termination of federal control.

Creates a "revolving fund" of $300,000,000 for making new loans to carriers.

Creates a labor board and other machinery for the amicable settlement of disputes between employers and employes.

Directs the interstate commerce commission to fix rates that will provide for two years 5 1-2 percent returns to the railroads on the value of the aggregate railway property devoted to the public use.

Excess Goes Into Reserve

Provides that if any carrier earns in any year a net operating income in excess of six percent, one-half of such excess must be placed in a reserve fund and the other half must be paid into a general contingent fund, to be used to make loans to carriers.

Gives to the interstate commerce commission the power to regulate the issue of railroad securities.

Increases the interstate commerce commission from nine to eleven members and their salaries from $10,000 to $12,000.

Whether union labor leaders who stubbornly opposed the measure in congress and later sought to have President Wilson veto it will test the constitutionality of the bill in the courts will be decided here today at a conference of executives of the railway brotherhoods. The conference was arranged to consider the president's reply to their formally presented objections to the bill.

OFFERED TO MUSEUM

LONDON — The last horse-drawn fire engine remaining in the London Fire Brigade has been offered to the South Kensington Science Museum.

PASSENGERS ARE TAKEN OFF STRANDED SHIP

HALIFAX, March 1—The Leyland steamship Bohemian, bound for Liverpool from Boston with 181 passengers on board went on the rocks 40 miles east of Sambro early today, according to a radio from the steamer picked up by Lexe, S. O. S. calls said the vessel was held fast on a ledge and was in need of immediate assistance. The British steamer Maplemore and several other ships have gone to her assistance. The Bohemian is 5544 tons.

Later messages said that tugs had rescued the passengers and were bringing them into port.

SERUM EFFECTILE AGAINST TYPHUS

PARIS, Mar. 1—Mortality from typhus fever has been reduced from 47 per cent to 5 per cent by the use of a new serum adopted by Red Cross workers at Ekaterinodar, in the Kuban district of Russia, according to reports reaching here. Confidence is expressed that this serum may serve Russia from decimation by typhus.

BELGRADE, Mar. 1—Typhus fever has again broken out in Serbia and is being spread with alarming rapidity by refugees fleeing from the Bolsheviki on the south Russian front.

POLAND DEMANDS BIG INDEMNITY

COPENHAGEN, Mar. 1—Poland is demanding 35,000,000,000 marks in gold as indemnity from Soviet Russia in peace negotiations now going forward, the National Tidende learns.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 1—Returns of the railroads to private operation stimulated further buying of railway shares and kindred equipments at the opening of today's stock market. Motors also were carried along by the movement which was broad enough to suggest a moderate revival of public interest. Gains of one to three points were made by Baltimore & Ohio, Texas Pacific, Seaboard preferred, Missouri Pacific preferred, Wabash preferred "A" and some of the more representative rails, including Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, and Chicago and Northwestern. Included among the leading industrials were American Car, American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive, United States Rubber and General Motors.

BACK ON GERMAN SHIPS

LONDON—Resumption of pre-war shipping relations with Germany is not progressing very smoothly. At Barry, the dockers refused to load the Hedwig Fischer, a Ge man steamer which was to take a cargo of canned meat for Bremerhaven. She was therefore sent to Avonmouth where the dockers were reluctant to do the work, but finally consented. None of the German crew were allowed ashore.

FAIL TO CAPTURE BANDITS

NOGALES, ARIZONA, March 1.—Details of the pursuit across the international line of Mexican bandits who on Friday killed Alexander J. Fraser and wounded his brother, John A. Fraser, at Arivaca, Arizona, were expected to be made known today with the return of Sheriff R. R. Harbart.

Harbart, who headed a posse which unofficially trailed the Mexicans with bloodhounds, gave up the chase yesterday and returned to Montana camp last night. The Mexicans cut all telephone wires reaching the Montana camp vicinity and the only information coming through early today was that Harbart had started for Nogales.

Troop A of the fourth cavalry, a motor equipment, yesterday scoured the country around Ruby, Arizona, where bandits were said to have rear-ed Mexico. It was stated that under existing orders troops could not cross the border except on a "hot trail" and that discovery of such a trail had not been reported to headquarters.

MANY TRAINS CANCELLED

BOSTON, March 1—The return of New England railroads to private ownership today was accompanied by curtailment of passenger train service on several lines as a means of expediting needed fuel and food deliveries, which were held up by the recent storms and freeze-ups. Fifty outgoing trains were cancelled on the New York, New Haven and Hartford, other roads also reduced service. The New Haven started a drive to move 4,000 freight cars stalled in yards and on sidings in order to remove the danger of a fuel shortage.

Pin Bouncers To Hold Annual Bowling Tournament In Peoria

PENNY ANTE — With Private Stock Diminishing

Success is assured for the twentieth annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress to be held at Peoria, Ill., beginning March 10th and continuing for three or four full weeks, as entries are in the hands of Secretary Langtry for over five hundred and fifty teams and three weeks still remain before the entries close on March 15th.

The officials of the Congress are seriously considering the extending of the closing date to April 3d in order to accommodate the anticipated huge list of contestants, most of whom come at the last minute.

The Birk Bros. team of Chicago, recently bowled 1151 plus in one game in Chicago and are the team that hold the world's record of 3061 made at Grand Rapids tournament in 1917, are entered in the tournament together with the Acquilla Cigars, of St. Paul, now bowling under the name of Frankson and Lane, and who are the other "3000" team that has won honors at the world's championship contest.

MANY TEAMS WILL TRAIN DOWN IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Tex.—Experts in preparation of playing fields and other training camp attaches are invading Texas to prepare the way for the four major league baseball clubs that will train in this state.

Two clubs from each league will get their spring practice in Texas, the New York Nationals at San Antonio and the St. Louis Nationals at Brownsville, while the Chicago Americans will hold forth at Waco and the St. Louis Americans at Taylor.

Each team has arranged a series of exhibition games, starting with Texas League teams or major league clubs training nearby, and winding up with clubs in cities along the route to the respective team's home camps.

Last year the New York Giants took their season's warming up exercises at Gainsville, Fla., while the St. Louis Cardinals worked out at home. The Chicago White Sox camped for spring work at Mineral Wells, Tex., and the St. Louis Browns were at San Antonio.

Spring work will get under way in earnest between March 1 and 15 in all four Texas camps, although battery men will have a few day's start to get their arms in condition warranting heavy workout when the rest of the squads report.

In point of location of spring camps in Texas, the Cardinals will be the farthest south, as Brownsville it at the extreme southern point of the state, on the Rio Grande, and just across that river lies the Mexican city of Matamoros. Waco is about 160 miles directly south of Dallas, toward San Antonio, and Taylor lies between Waco and San Antonio.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Many brilliant stars of balldom have sped o'er the diamond paths at League Park, where the New York Nationals will go into spring training March 2 for the 1920 season.

In the park's history, a long line of diamond celebrities have tanned under a glowing sun during spring training, and many an ambitious recruit from the "sticks" has found the spirit of hope or despair lurking in the shadows of its dugouts.

The Philadelphia Americans trained at League Park in 1913 and 1914, and the St. Louis Nationals worked out there in the spring of 1915, 1916, 1917 and 1918. The Cardinals went to Hot Wells, near here, in 1915, but did most of their work at League Park, with the Cleveland Indians.

The New York Giants had brief experience with the park in 1918 when they put on the finishing touches of their spring work here. In 1919, the St. Louis Brown started one of their most successful seasons by developing pitching arms and batting eyes here.

In addition to a training season of about three weeks for the Giants, the local park will be used for an unusual number of exhibition games this spring. The Giants will play the Boston Red Sox here in an exhibition March 21. The St. Louis Browns will play the San Antonio (Texas League) team March 20 and 21 and the Chicago White Sox will play the locals March 31.

The Giants will arrive here, the night of March 1, according to present plans.

Except on dates already fixed, the Giants will oppose the San Antonio club every Saturday and Sunday.

WACO, Tex.—While the vanguard of the Chicago American league club is expected to reach Waco the first week in March for spring training, present plans indicate the main body will not arrive until the second week.

Only twice have major league teams trained here, the White Sox worked out here in 1912 and the St. Louis Americans in 1913. The Indianapolis club of the American association was here for a part of its spring training in 1917.

Katy Park will be the scene of the White Sox activities this year, the home of the Waco club while a member of the Texas league.

The previous spring workout of the White Sox here, in 1912, marked the initial trial of the now brilliant infielders, Weaver and Rath, and it was at Waco, too, that Benz developed into a first string hurler.

MAT ARTISTS BATTLE

PRINCETON, Feb. 28—Harvard wrestlers defeated Princeton here tonight 16 to 11.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28—Jack Dempsey, heavy-weight champion of the world, and Jack Kearns, his manager, expect to furnish bonds Monday before the United States commissioner here on the indictments returned against them in San Francisco charging conspiracy to evade the selective draft and actual evasion of the draft, according to a statement tonight by Kearns.

"We have been informed by our attorneys that the indictments have been mailed from San Francisco to the United States marshal here and that we would be notified when they arrive," Kearns said. "Each of us will be ready with a bond of $1,000."

AKRON AND CANTON TEAMS IN FINALS

DELAWARE, O., Feb. 28.—Honors for the high school basketball championship for the northern half of the state lies between the teams representing Canton McKinley and Akron Central schools. These teams today remained the sole survivors of the elimination games played in the twelfth annual high school basketball tournament held under the supervision of Ohio Wesleyan University. The Canton team defeated Cleveland East Tech 19 to 13, while Akron defeated Berea 30 to 15 in the finals played Saturday.

On March 6 the two winners will play to decide the championship of the northern half of the state, the winners to play the southern Ohio champions, who will hold their elimination games here Friday and Saturday of this week.

FIX DATES FOR GOLF TOURNAMENTS

CHICAGO, Feb. 28—The western open golf championship will be held just ahead of the national open meet, the dates as announced today by Assistant Secretary Crafts W. Higgins, being August 4, 5 and 6. This event will take place on the three courses of the Olympia Fields Club of Chicago, while the national open, which usually comprises the same field professional and expert amateur golfers, will be played at the Inverness Club at Toledo. It is expected that several British golfers will take part in both meets, while American golfers will invade England earlier in the season to compete for the British open honors.

The Western Golf Association. Western junior championship will be held at the Bobolink links, Chicago, July 28-30.

MORAN TO STAND PAT ON TEAM

CINCINNATI, O., March 1.—There will be no trades involving the regulars of the Cincinnati National baseball team, said August Herrmann, when told today of a New York dispatch, stating that Manager McGraw, of the Giants, had offered to exchange "Pep" Young for Eddie Roush and Larrie Kopf.

"There is not one word of truth in any report that Roush, Kopf or any of our regular players are going to be traded to New York or any other club," said Mr. Herrmann. "Manager Moran intends to stand pat on his winning team. We hope to have all the boys signed up and ready to leave for the training camp on Friday morning. But, whether they are signed or not there will be no trades."

U.S. STAR TRAINS ITALIANS FOR MEET

O'Dowd Is Matched

ST. PAUL, MINN., March 1.—Mike O'Dowd, middleweight champion, has signed to meet Augie Ratner, of New York, in a ten-round contest here March 17. It was announced today.

GASOLINE PRODUCTION MUST BE INCREASED

Gasoline production by refineries in the United States will have to be greatly increased during 1920 to meet the demand by motors driven by internal combustion engines, which, showed a larger rate of increase in 1919 than did gasoline, says the Wall Street Journal.

Refineries manufactured an estimated 92,700,000 barrels of gasoline in 1919, an increase of 7,500,000 barrels or 9 percent over 1918. The number of motor cars registered at end of 1919, is estimated at 7,500,000 gain of 22 per cent for 1918. This includes only passenger and commercial cars and not tractors, motor boats and gas engines.

Automobile manufacturers are preparing to put 2,250,000 cars, including 250,000 commercial cars, on the market this year and allowing for 20 percent replacements this would make the number in use in 1920 about 9,075,000. The average car consumes about 500 gallons, or 12.3 barrels of gasoline a year. This would mean that during 1920 at least [illegible] barrels of gasoline must be produced to sell ... for domestic consumption. Add to this 10,000,000 barrels, which will be used for exports ... and a total of [illegible] barrels ... be needed ... [illegible] barrels over 1919. Experts agree about [illegible] ... or [illegible] percent of the total.

OH, LOOK WHAT THEY STILL HOLD

IRA VAIL IS THIRD

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., March 1.—Figures announced today by the official scorers of the 250 mile automobile race yesterday gave second place and a purse of $5,000 to Joe Thomas and placed Ira Vail third. Unofficial scorers yesterday placed Vail second and Thomas third. The official score also clipped a minute from the unofficial time of Jimmy Murphy, who won the race and a prize of $10,000.

McGraw Is Some Kidder

Now and then some funny news comes out of New York. One of the funniest stories was that McGraw wanted to trade Outfielder Young for Roush and Kopf of the Reds. Isn't McGraw some kidder. Why these two Redlegs are worth half of the Giants' team.

Reds Leave Saturday

The Reds will leave Saturday for Miami, Florida, where they will do their spring training. The team will play a lot of exhibition games with American league teams and should come north in fine shape. Moran is confident that all of his holdout birds will be in the fold by Saturday.

KAYSER TO REPORT

Outfielder Kayser of this city, who has signed his first contract will report this week to Rocky Mount in the Carolina Association. He is a promising young ball player and should make good. His instructor and boss will be none other than Al Bridwell.

Prohibition Decreases Number of Paupers

GALVESTON, Texas — Prohibition has so decreased the number of paupers throughout the United States that the country's medical colleges are facing a shortage of bodies for laboratory instruction work, according to Dr. William Keiller, professor of anatomy of the University of Texas.

"There are fewer sick men than in the bygone 'wet' days, as sober men have enough sense to protect themselves in bad weather," Dr. Keiller said. "Absence of intoxicants and not high wages, is responsible for the scarcity of paupers, as many men would spend most of their earnings for liquor no matter how much they made," he added.

People who formerly patronized the charity wards of the large hospitals and clinics, now frequently drive up to the front door of the best institutions in their own automobiles, the professor said.

Vanadium Highly Important.

For the latest types of engineering works, such as airplanes, submarines, torpedoes and similar work, the possession of a material of high resistance to stresses of all kinds, enables some of the most difficult elements of the work to be solved. While the application of vanadium to steel does this, and thus constitutes at present its most important use, it has also a marked influence upon cast iron and upon copper.

NEW ORCHID IS IN BLOOM

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A ... of 350 ... expected ... flower ... Missouri Botanical ... Rowe of Kirkwood, Mo., who gave to the garden a collection of orchid plants valued at least at $10,000, and which brought the orchid collection at the Garden to rank as the best in America.

According to George H. Pring, horticulturist of the Garden, the history of this orchid demonstrates why the orchid will soon be placed beyond the reach of persons who now enjoy it for their corsage.

Mr. Pring says: "The government recently has prohibited the importation of orchid plants because of the belief that certain injurious insects are brought in with the plants, which come from the tropics. You have seen how tedious is the development of orchid plants from seed. The result is that the florist, who now grows the orchids to supply commercial orchids, cannot hope to perpetuate the flower. ... [illegible] ... Part of a village of the corrugated steel homes with their occupants.

While the Germans were in France they built semi-permanent abodes for the troops. When the allied tide drove the foe back the French people, made homeless by the guns of the Germans, took possession of these old houses. They proved fairly comfortable when properly fitted out and thousands of French families are still living in them. They are made of heavy steel sheets.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

BY ZOE BECKLEY

When Jim told me today about a business scheme that has been on his mind for weeks I realized for the first time how little the average wife understands her husband's work. Business is Greek to me. When Jim talked of contracts, profits, percentages and risks I felt like running away. It was only when it dawned on me that it was a real problem, the decision of which will affect our whole lives, that I forced myself to listen and try to comprehend.

"But, Jim," I puzzled with knit brows, "it would mean our leaving Hammonds Corners and going to Silversand Lake."

"It would, eventually," he answered. "That's the main difficulty, under present circumstances. There are three months of development work necessary before the place would be in shape as an amusement park. I would practically have to live there in a rough shack with a gang of men, hustling day and night. Then, if we make a go of it, there should be big returns—a fortune really! The fellow who owns the land has put his last dollar into the scheme. He needs a couple of thousand more for immediate improvements, and I've saved that much. But I'd hate to devote my whole time and energy to it. What do you say, dear? Shall we be sports and take a chance? It's almost a certainty."

"It's so—so sudden, Jimmie; I don't know what to say. And it's all so vague to me yet," I answered, with spinning brain. "We're awfully comfortable here——"

"Yes, but we mustn't settle down into mere comfort because it's the easiest thing to do. We want to get on, don't we, dear? We want to give the kiddie a good start in life. We want to keep our brains polished up by use and exercise, don't we? We want to play the big game in life, not 'play safe' just because there's a risk in the other."

"Women are like cats, I suppose, Jimsy. They have to be poked out of their comfortable corners. And we have just got this house into homey shape and the garden fixed and the furniture all to suit me——"

"Oh, come, come, pussykitten: those are trifles. What worries me is you. It would mean you would have to be here alone a good part of the next half year. Or take a run out to Centerville and see the mother and dad. Or have them come here. Or go back to little old New York and put up with Mrs. Hast. I guess she'd take you in, eh? Or something—you'll have to decide."

The mention of New York and Athena Hast made my heart leap. Jim was looking at me eagerly, fired with the enthusiasm of a boy at his first big chance to make good. I almost said yes without weighing the pros and cons of the move. Then the more serious aspects of the thing came to my mind—the separation from Jim just at the time I need him most, the breaking up of our home, the risks of the venture, the decision as to where tiny Jim, Jr., shall make his debut in the world.

"Don't answer now," said Jim, patting my cheek. "Think it over. Remember I leave the decision to you, little Mrs. Goodsport!"

How I wish I had some sensible, experienced woman to talk it over with! No husband somehow, can ever take the place of a woman friend. Ah! an idea! I'll get Athena on the long distance.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Mar. 1—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up and my poor head aching with the ague and fever but I fought it off and by breakfast I was well and did eat a newly catched trout. It being kept a holiday through the city I walked to the The Mall and met Mr. Atwell and his hobble-detoy son and heard the music very sweet. My wife, poor wretch, talking mightily about a great coat of fur which it appears is cheaper to buy now but I veer the talk into other channels, very noble.

Put out for a cinema hall to see a widely talked of play actress whose name is in the public journals constantly and found her a pretty-humored wretch but with no ability soever and I did ask B. Mantle, the critic, if the lady had ever attempted stage roles or speaking parts and he confided that she was unable because she stuttered.

Home where I tried to catalogue my books alphabetically but I have so few that it was silly and I gave it up. The streets are still very dirty and chimneys down from the storm and very few visitors come and I have come into the habit of going to bed at nine each night and like it mighty well.

I was frighted in the afternoon when I heard a moan under the window seat and I called to my neighbor who came but we could find nothing and he suggested a game of dice and we played, I losing ten shillings, and I believe him to be a rotten-hearted, false man and will have no more of his company.

All the late afternoon reading and my wife and Mistress Alnee dined with me in our chambers and I made them laugh and merry dancing skirt dances in my house gown and singing Marguerite falsetto and Humish MacLaurin, the Scotch fellow, came in the doldrums and we made merry, too. And so to bed full of fine and pleasant thoughts at midnight.

The other evening a group of New Yorkers were dining at one of those Westchester road houses run by a hook-nosed, rapacious looking oriental. It is a place of garish splendor, the air heavy with the acrid smell of cigarettes and the muscular exertion of the "shimmy." The Hawaiian dancer—from Harlem—and all the other fixtures of the old time Broadway jazz houses are there. A prize fighter came in. He has been living on past glories and drinking all the booze he could find. With him was the ingenue of burlesque and both were in their cups. They started to dance and jostled the other dancers. Finally they had the floor to themselves because their actions were so disgusting. The group of New Yorkers looked on for a time and started to go. "Whazza matter, don't you like our dancin'?" leered the prize fighter. "No. I don't and I don't like you," and so saying one drew back and knocked the prize fighter out for the count. It developed that the hero was a book-keeper in a hay and feed store on Canal street and had never been in a road house before. There are a lot of O. Henry stories in real life.

Manhattan beggars are hiring barkers. Down on Brooklyn Bridge a beggar in a wheel chair has an alert young man who solicits alms from the passers-by. "Come on" he cries, "give something to a feller who is down and out. You may be down and out yourself some day. Nobody knows."

Broadway is buying corn whiskey moonshined, so the reports go, for $15 a bottle. It is said that taxi drivers are in most cases the agents and that they will not deliver it until they have reached some lonely spot in Central Park. Thus it is that you get melodrama with your shot of hooch these days—dark spot in park, low hung moon, stately trees, modern pirate, Brrr!

Don'ts That Help You Do

Don't succumb to the temptation to be too busy to have any time to be rationally sociable.

Don't cultivate exclusiveness.

Don't depend upon others to push you along.

Don't count upon any "pull" which you yourself did not create.

Don't fancy that others succeed because of mere luck and that you are where you are solely because luck did not come your way.

A Woman's Answer

"Do you know why money is so scarce, brothers, why living expenses are so high?" demanded the curbstone orator of a fair-sized section of the back-bone and brawn of the nation, while they waited in leisurely patience for the answer.

A tired-looking woman with a market basket on her arm, paused for a moment on the edge of the crowd. Then she spoke curtly:

"Yes, I know why money is so scarce. It's because you men stand around on the streets telling each other why, instead of hustling to see that it ain't."

SAME STORY IN BRITAIN AS IN U. S.

LONDON—Wages continued to advance, hours of labor to shrink and the cost of living went higher than ever before in this country in 1919, according to the Labor Gazette.

"There was a marked reduction in hours of work, the decreases affecting 6,400,000 workers, with an aggregate reduction in weekly hours of 41,161,000," adds the paper. "This was an average reduction of six and one-half hours a week for each worker." Increases granted to 5,517,000 employes aggregated 2,411,000 pounds a week.

There were in the year 1,413 trade disputes involving 2,570,000 workers, as a result of which they lost a total of 34,483,000 working hours.

The general level of retail prices at the end of 1919 for food, rent, clothing, fuel and light was 125 percent above that of July, 1914, according to the Gazette. This was an increase of five precent in the year.

On January 1, 1920, food stood at 136 percent above pre-war retail prices.

EXPRESS GRATITUDE TO AMERICA

PEKING.—Gratitude to America for the attitude of the United States Congress on the Shantung question was expressed by Chinese statesmen in addresses welcoming Admiral Albert Gleaves, Commander of the United State Asiatic fleet, here.

Premier Chin Yun-Feng who gave a dinner in honor of Admiral Gleaves said:

"The friendly relations which have always existed between America and China, and especially the recent attitude of your nation toward the peace settlement in Europe cannot but command the gratitude and admiration of our people.

"We believe that our country has in late years made some progress as a republic; but we realize that from you, a republic of riper experience, we may learn many profitable lessons. We hope to secure from you constant advice and counsel so that we may cooperate to maintain the permanent peace of the Pacific. This is the sincere wish of the Chinese people."

Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, former premier of the Chinese cabinet and present head of the National Defense Board said:

"I cannot refrain from mentioning the admirable attitude of the American congress toward the Far Eastern question in the matter of the Peace Treaty. It seems that public opinion in America is being guided much more by ideals than by interests. Your diplomacy is endeavoring not merely to prevent war today but to maintain peace forever. You set a fine example for the people of your sister republic who will look to you for cooperation and counsel when the Pacific question comes to be settled."

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

CHARLES R. CRANE

Charles R. Crane has been offered the appointment as U. S. minister to Japan, named recently by President Wilson. He is a Chicago millionaire and world traveler.

Crane has been before the public eye politically before. He was appointed to this same post by President Taft in 1909, but was recalled while on his way to Peking. It is believed that his recall was at the suggestion of the Japanese officials, they resenting his appointment and the selection of his secretary, a man who had written material construed to be anti-Japanese.

Earlier in President Wilson's administration Crane was offered the post of ambassador to Russia, but refused it. Later he was asked to be a member of the mission headed by former Secretary Root which investigated the Russian situation.

BILLY WHISKERS

by FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Tuesday turned out to be a dismal, cold, rainy day and Billy was glad enough to stay quietly in the tent. He thought it would be a good chance to become better acquainted with the animals in the cages, and he decided to call on them all by beginning at one cage and visiting each in order until he had completed the circle.

He could not stay where he was for Nancy, the old maid camel, made him nervous; she talked so much, and when she was not talking she chewed her cud like an old maid chews gum.

"How can you stand her?" Billy whispered to the elephant.

"Oh, I have got used to it," said the elephant, "and I don't hear her half the time, and when she gets too bad I just pull the flaps of my ears down tight to my head, and I can't hear a word. And then I set my trunk to wobbling and make it nod 'yes' half the time and 'no' the other, and I find it answers quite well."

"But how do you know when to say 'yes' and when to say 'no'?" Billy asked.

"I don't mind if I do answer wrong part of the time, and if I get too much off she stops talking altogether and that pleases me better, so you see it answers very well."

"But don't you get tired leading such an inactive life?" asked Billy.

"I used to," answered the elephant, "when I was younger, and before my mate died. But since she died and I have rheumatism I don't seem to care much, for without her there would be nothing to do if I did run away; besides your climate is so cold, and your forests so skinny and bare looking there would not be any fun living in them."

"Our forests skinny and bare looking, did you say? You don't know what you are talking about. I guess our forests are as nice as yours in India, and not half so full of snakes and chattering monkeys, to say nothing of the nasty crocodiles and hippopotamuses that you have in your rivers; and vines growing all over the trees and from one tree to another, so thickly you can't walk without making a path for yourself by breaking them down."

"Oh, but that is just what I like," said the elephant, "and the air is so hot and moist you feel fine, while here you are either all dried up with heat or shivering with cold."

"Well, every one to his taste, I suppose," and he walked over to the hyenas' cage to make their acquaintance, out of curiosity, as he knew little about hyenas.

RECONSTRUCTING WRECKED TOWNS

LAREDO, Texas—Reconstruction of the towns destroyed by the recent earthquake in the Mexican state of Vera Cruz is proceeding rapidly, according to the Mexico City newspaper Excelsior.

Buildings of "solid construction" are giving way to the frame structures, the newspaper says, and while the new buildings "do not present the agreeable appearance of the former edifices, many of which dated back to colonial times, they will be safer for residents."

The governor of Vera Cruz has signed a contract with a Mexico City construction company for the erection of the first 500 wooden houses, which the Excelsior's staff correspondent says "are of regretfull appearance."

One Man Dead, Another May Die As The Result Of "Feud" Shooting

Nine pistol shots were exchanged by Charles Richendollar and Jake Yates Saturday afternoon on Buffalo Creek, Symmes township, Lawrence county, when Richendollar was shot and killed and Yates was perhaps fatally wounded. Details of the shooting were learned in Ironton late Sunday morning when Undertaker Phillips, of Waterloo, nine miles from the scene of the shooting, called Ironton to give the facts of the shooting to the Irontonian.

According to Phillips, who got his story from Yates, the men met on the Mt. Vernon and Waterloo turnpike in front of the home of "Kentucky Tom" Miller.

Yates after being wounded, walked about a quarter of a mile to the home of a nephew, Wheeler Yates, where he fell exhausted near the house. Wheeler Yates rode horse-back to get to a telephone to call a doctor. Dr. Clary, of Waterloo, was called and attended Yates, who received a flesh wound in the breast, one in the hand and a third in the abdomen, this shot it is feared penetrating the liver, which will cause death. When Dr. Clary arrived at the scene, the body of Richendollar was still lying in the road, where the shooting took place. Richendollar received three wounds, two in the left wrist, and one in the right shoulder which took a course across the collar bone severing one of the large arteries in the neck.

According to Yates, Richendollar crowded him to one side of the road; and when he saw Richendollar put his hand into his pocket he reached for his gun, but Richendollar was the quickest and fired first.

Richendollar when found had a 32 calibre revolver in his hand, five empty cartridges being in the chamber. Yates used a 38 calibre and used four cartridges. The men are brothers-in-law, Yates marry Richendollar's sister. According to Yates the revolver duel was the result of a family grudge of several years standing. Judging from the wounds received, the men shot at close range.

WITHOUT ANY FORMALITIES RAILROADS RETURN TO FORMER OWNERS MONDAY

Without any fan fare of trumpets or the crashing of cymbals the property of the N. & W., C. & O. and B. & O. reverted to the incorporated owners at 12:01 this morning and no longer will be doing business under the railroad administration.

There was no set program for the formal transfer and normal scene prevailed in the vast shops in East Portsmouth this morning. On the surface there was nothing to indicate that Uncle Sam had withdrawn as boss of the railroads. They are again privately owned after being taken over during the height of the war by the government.

Of course there are rumors of changes but these probably will die aborning.

"There are no changes in the air so far as we know" a prominent N. & W. official said Monday morning. "Things are moving along just as usual and will continue to do so. The officials on all the divisions will hold the same positions now that they did for the Government."

Bill Watson a son of Mr. Watson is ill in Hempstead hospital. Relatives and neighbors are also ill and it is impossible to get help in the village. Many other families have several ill in the home.

Whiskey Is Stolen

Bold robbers again visited the home of Jay Stevens at Mt. Joy last night, and made away with 125 gallons of liquor, in 25 gallon jugs, part of a supply that was stored in the house.

The robbery was discovered about nine o'clock this morning by Sam Fastnaugh, who is looking after the Stevens' property while Mr. Stevens is spending the winter months in the south.

On Jan. 16, a successful raid was made on the liquor supply, robbers at that time making away with 11 five gallon jugs, another jug being broken after it had been taken from the house. Deputy Sheriff Harry Dunham left this morning for Mt. Joy to see if any trace could be found of the robbers or stolen liquor.

MARCH CAME IN LIKE PROVERBIAL LAMB

With the thermometer registering 13 above zero, March appeared in the lamb-like character prophetic of the fact that the same month will go out like a lion.

The snow which fell Saturday remained, for the most part covering the ground with a veil of white. There was scarcely any wind this morning it being an ideal winter morning.

Truly March's advent while chilly around the edges was gentle and calm.
